SENATE GROUP STUDIES HIKE IN TAX BILL

Committee Weighs Plans To Increase Total To Four Billions.

TREASURY GIVES IDEAS

Proposes Boosted Levies on Gasoline, Beer, Autos, and Cigarets.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The senate finance committee today studied suggestions of some members that the record-breaking new tax bill be boosted to $4,000,000,000, as the treasury submitted possible new taxes to yield approximately $800,000,000.

The committee, chiefly by slashing income tax exemptions, has raised the total of the bill to $3,608,000,000 with many vital sections still to be finally acted upon. The bill was estimated to yield $3,236,700,000 as it passed the house.

"There is considerable talk of increasing the total of the bill, but I do not know whether it will be done," said Sen. LaFollette (P.) Wis. "There is general recognition that it is inadequate to meet the financial situation of the government."

"The bill may be increased, but I doubt if it will be much more than $3,500,000,000," said Sen. Connally (D.) Tex.

Taxes suggested by the treasury in event the committee decided to raise the total included:

Lowering exemptions to yield $303,000,000 which has been adopted.

Special community property state rule, $48,300,000, adopted in principle.

Increase estate and gift taxes either $123,900,000 or $195,000,000, rejected.

Gasoline, one cent a gallon additional tax $255,000,000. The committee has rejected a one-half cent increase.

Beer, $6.00 to $7.00 per barrel, $52,800,000, to be acted upon.

Higher wine rates, graduated from 10 to 65 cents a gallon, $10,800,00. adopted.

Automobiles, seven to 15 per cent; trucks, buses, five to 10 per cent; parts, accessories, five to 10 per cent, $167,200,000.

Joint returns, with modification for earned income, $258,000,000, rejected.

Limit percentage depletion for oil to cost of depletion or value as of March 1, 1913, $86,000,000, to be acted upon.

Cigarets increase $3.25 to $4.00 a thousand, $112,800,000.

In addition treasury experts are to submit new rates on excess profits, higher than those adopted in the house, to yield perhaps $300,000,000 more.

There is a possibility, mem-

Cleveland to Open First Safetytown Project Tomorrow

Cleveland's Safetytown program, patterned after that of Mansfield, will get under way at Woodland Hills playground Thursday morning under the guidance of the Cleveland Public Affairs committee, according to Mrs. Marie Hubbard Frey, safety chairman of the committee.

The Mansfield Safetytown program was surveyed by the Cleveland group recently when a party of committee members and Cleveland city officials came to Mansfield to view Traffic Commissioner Frend Boals' Safetytown project in operation.

The results of their findings will be put into actual practice tomorrow as the first of two projected Cleveland Safety towns start.

Mrs. Frey and Mrs. Florence Boswell, of Cleveland, were luncheon guests of C. K. King in Mansfield today.

Forty miles northeast of Tehran lies Mt. Remavend, 18,000-foot peak in the Elburz range, as a bar to attack on the Iranian capital from that direction. Invasion of Iran by British and Russian troops probably will make this a focal point of military acton as the Allied armies move against Tehran.

Faces Charge In Traffic Death of Mansfield Boy, 6

Accused of second-degree manslaughter in the death of six-year-old Richard Eugene Mapes of Mansfield last Saturday night in a four-car accident on U. S. Route 40 west of Zanesville, Charles Eden, 19, of Cleveland was bound over to the Licking county grand jury today under $1,000 bond.

The charge was filed at Newark by State Highway Patrolman R. P. Shaw who investigated the accident. The officer said Eden's car collided head-on with the one in which the Mapes boy was riding when Eden attempted to pass another car. The other automobiles piled up in the wreckage, one crashing into the rear of the Mapes car.

The Mansfield boy was riding in the rear seat of the family automobile driven by his father, Carl Mapes, who was injured. Mrs. Mapes and a four-year-old child, Doris Ann, also were injured.

The Mapes family was en route home from a vacation trip to Tennessee. The crash occurred shortly before midnight Saturday between Zanesville and Newark.

AFL WINS

Defeats CIO In Bargaining Rights Vote at Detroit.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—An American Federation of Labor union today defeated a rival CIO group in a collective bargaining election for the exclusive right to represent employes of Detroit's public transportation system.

The vote was 3076 for the AFL amalgamated association of street, electric railway and motor coach employes and 1925 for the CIO state, county and municipal workers of America.

The election, unprecedented in the city's 19-year ownership of the transit facilities, was ordered as a result of a five-day strike last week by the amalgamated association of street, electric railway and motor coach employes (AFL).

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Agents of the federal bureau of investigation and the Cleveland fire department arson squad today sought the cause of a fire that swept the Otis Steel company coke works last night, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

AGREE ON O-B ELECTION HERE

Company Representatives and Union Officials In Accord But Move Hits Snag.

At a Cleveland hearing before the National Labor Relations board yesterday Mansfield Ohio Brass company representatives and officials of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers, CIO, agreed to a consent bargaining rights election at the plant here but negotiations struck a snag as AFL pattern markers claimed representation in the local plant.

Company spokesmen said today that they agreed to the election but that the nature of the ballot and the date remained to be settled.

Richard Nicbur, UE field representative, said that the claim of AFL pattern makers for representation at the Mansfield plant necessitates a Washington hearing of the case by the NLRB. Recommendations by the Washington board would determine whether the ballot should represent both CIO and AFL unions.

Meanwhile, Hugh E. Sperry, of Cleveland, regional director of the NLRB recommended that a petition for a collective bargaining election by the AFL National Brotherhood of Operative Pottors at the Barberton Ohio Brass be denied.

Members of the UERMA, (CIO) who have kept the Barberton plant closed by strike since May 28, were named the collective bargaining agent.

THREE FACING 'RADIO' TRIAL

Trio Charged With Unlicensed Operation of Station.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va.—(U.P.)—The trial of three persons indicted on charges of operating an unlicensed radio station at Parkersburg, W. Va., was set today for Sept. 22 in federal court. Charges against two other men have been dismissed.

William Brennan, Joseph Wozniak and Harry Lindy, all of Detroit, are charged with operation of a radio station by an unlicensed operator, operating an unlicensed transmitter and conspiracy to operate.

Demands Gasoline Control By Rationing Card System

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Sheridan Downey, D., Calif., today demanded a rationing card system for the control of gasoline consumption along the eastern seaboard and suggested that rationing of all consumer commodities probably would be the only alternative to inflation.

Sen. D. Worth Clark, D., Ida., agreeing with Downey, asserted that the administration's failure to issue gasoline rationing cards was indication that "they have not considered this (shortage) too seriously themselves."

These demands for federal control over gasoline consumption came as Leon Henderson, chief of the office of price administration and civilian supply, prepared to "crack down" on rising gasoline prices in eastern states, reported in some instances to be as much as three cents a gallon.

A senate committee begins an investigation of the gasoline situation tomorrow.

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that the gasoline shortage would be eased next spring, unless a major German offensive in the North Atlantic requires that more American tankers be turned over to Great Britain. New tankers and two new oil pipelines from southwest oil fields are being rushed, he said.

In proposing rationing of all consumer commodities, Downey said that defense orders would create about $25,000,000,000 in purchasing power next year.

Nippon Hits Sending of Fuel To Russia; Military Unit Will Go To China.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura arranged to confer today with Secretary of State Cordell Hull regarding the new impasse in U. S.-Japanese relations stemming from Tokyo's protest against American war aid shipments to Russia by way of Vladivostok.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW — Foreign Commissar Viacheslav Molotov has warned the Japanese government that any attempt to interfere with Russian-American trade will be considered an unfriendly act, it was announced today.

Molotov gave this warning to Lieut. Gen. Yoshitsugu Tatekawa, Japanese ambassador, who had made representations that shipments of American supplies to Russia, such as oil, by way of Russia's great far eastern port of Vladivostok, would create a "delicate and embarrassing" position for Japan.

The same warning, it was announced, was given to Adm. Teijiro Toyoda, Japanese foreign minister, by Constantin Smetanin, Russian ambassador at Tokyo.

Tatekawa asked Molotov to give "serious attention" to the question

Agrees To Don Uniform, So He Leaves Guardhouse.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Because he changed his mind and promised to wear an army uniform, Private Roger M. Hostetler, 23, of near Urbana, was free today of charges of failing to obey orders of a superior officer.

Hostetler, fifth corps officials said, will be sent to the medical replacement training center at Camp Lee, Virginia, for non-combatant duty.

The Champaign county youth refused to don a uniform two weeks ago, claiming he was a conscientious objector to military training. He had been confined to the guard house at Fort Hayes.

Mansfield Man Killed In Ashland Auto Crash

T. A. Jones, Sanatorium Owner, Dies as Truck Crushes Car; Companion Hurt.

T. Amos Jones, 70, owner of the Richland County Tuberculosis sanatorium and proprietor of the Jones Rest home on Park avenue west, was killed almost instantly and Miss Lillian Rankin, 51, a nurse at the rest home, was seriously injured at about 7 p. m. yesterday when their car was crushed between a bridge and a truck on U. S. route 42 northeast of Ashland.

Mr. Jones, who was widely known as a music instructor, died a few minutes after he was removed from the wreckage of the car. Miss Rankin is in Good Samaritan hospital at Ashland. She suffered fractures of her left leg, a dislocated right shoulder, possible chest injuries, and a badly lacerated right knee.

Ralph Preston, Columbus, driver of the truck which crashed into the rear of the Jones car, told Ashland county officers that Mr. Jones applied the brakes suddenly as the car approached a small bridge, causing the car to swerve into the path of the truck which was trailing the automobile.

Preston said the Jones car struck the bridge railing before his truck rammed the rear of the car. He told officers he was unable to stop in time to avoid the collision. Both vehicles were headed toward Ashland. Mr. Jones and Miss Rankin were enroute home from Cleveland. Preston was not held responsible for the accident.

A native of North Wales, British Isles, Mr. Jones came to Mansfield about 11 years ago to assist his wife, the late Eleanor Thomas Jones, in the operation of the sanitarium on Lexington avenue which formerly bore her name.

At the death of his wife two years ago, Mr. Jones took over operation of the sanitarium, later renting it to the county commissioners who changed its name to the Richland County T. B. Sanatorium. Commissioners recently had negotiated with him on a new contract which would give the county more control of the institution

Mr. Jones also operated a rest home at 490 Park avenue west for the past two years. He lived at that address.

He was a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music in London and taught voice in England for a number of years. He appeared before the British royal family during his residence in London.

After coming to the United States, he was professor of music at Midland college, Fremont, Neb., and taught music in western Ohio for several years. He was a member of the Methodist church and the Masonic lodge of North Wales. Mrs. R. J. Nichols, now of Gulfport, Miss., one son, Richard of Newark; a brother, Thomas Jones, who is in the government service at Seward, Alaska, and four grandchildren.

The body was brought to the Finefrock funeral home today. Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending arrival of Mrs. Nichols tomorrow.

Other traffic mishaps were fatal to eight persons last night in Ohio. Four of the victims were pedestrians.

CITIES WON'T GET SURPLUS

Governor Says Municipalities 'In Pretty Good Shape' During Conference.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—There is little likelihood of Ohio cities getting much of a slice from the fast growing sales tax surplus in the state treasury, it was indicated today.

After making an appointment to see Mayor Edward Blythin of Cleveland Tuesday morning on a share of the money for Cleveland, Gov. John W. Bricker asserted that figures he has been compiling on the condition of city treasuries indicate that local finances most everywhere are in "pretty good shape."

He is not ready yet to make any statement on the basis of these figures, but suggested he might do so next week, and then added: 'Cleveland has been treated very well, indeed."

The governor indicated he would have his figures ready for Blythin.

Blythin announced last week that he would ask for money as Cleveland city employes have been demanding they be given pay boosts to meet the increasing living costs.

Other pressure also has been brought on the governor by Dem-

DRESS PRICES SET FOR BOOST

Expected to Go Up 20 Per Cent Despite Ceiling on Cotton.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The retail prices of dresses will shoot up 20 per cent in the near future— despite the establishment of price ceilings on cotton and rayon by the federal government—Morris Kolchian, executive director of the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers association, said today.

A price rise, he said, is "compulsory" because the cost of materials and labor have gone up Kolchian pointed out that the federal price ceilings were not imposed on various textiles and yarns until prices had increased considerably. The ceilings, he said, are higher than the prices manufacturers paid for the same materials last month.

DAYTON —(U.P.)— Police prepared today to place Henry Branson, 20-year-old London, England, sailor who jumped ship at Philadelphia to "see what the United States looks like," in the custody of immigration officials.

Branson, who said he reached Philadelphia, Aug. 16, aboard the merchant vessel Caduceus on which he was a fireman, gave himself up to Dayton police when his money ran out.

FDR Action Expected To Aid Westinghouse

Washington Says President Will Set Up Plan to Ease Shut-Down Periods By Allowing Production Material.

Mansfield's industrial picture for the fall and winter appeared brighter today with the announcement by President Roosevelt that industries which are threatened by curtailed production or shutdowns will receive sufficient raw materials for 30 or 60 days to give them time to convert their facilities to handle defense orders.

The executive order, which was expected to be signed by the president sometime today, was seen as a move to avert the threatened lay-off of men in industrial plants which otherwise would be unable to get raw materials to maintain their present rate of operation.

With the Office of Production Management taking over the steel supply for defense production, a number of industries, including the Westinghouse and Tappan Stove company plants in Mansfield, were faced with a reduction of as much as 50 per cent in their domestic output.

Officials of the Westinghouse plant were in Washington today attempting to get defense orders to keep the plant here operating at capacity or as near peak as possible.

It was understood that none of the Mansfield industries have received orders for curtailing production, so officials declined to comment on the president's attempt to make raw materials available for a month or two to ease the shock of the defense program on industries.

President Roosevelt said machinery will be set up to aid workers thrown into idleness because of the defense program. He added that it may be necessary to use the unemployment compensation laws to tide workers over during periods of idleness.

LOSES CAR

Greenburg Nabbed For Speeding Through Camp Custer.

FORT CUSTER, Mich.—(INS)—Corporal Henry Greenberg, the former Detroit Tiger slugging star, had his automobile taken away from him today for 30 days following a hearing on a charge that he was speeding through the army post at 42 miles an hour shortly after midnight.

Greenberg, driving his own convertible coupe, was stopped by a military police scout car patroling the area and seeking to enforce the 25-mile-an hour speed limit.

At a hearing, it was disclosed that Greenberg had been excused by "proper authorities" from the 11 p. m. "bed check" and thus had permission to be off the reservation.

Richland Draft Boards Told To Help Soldiers Get Jobs

Taking steps to provide jobs for soldiers when they return home after their training period and those past 28 who will soon be released, state selective service headquarters today asked Richland county's three draft boards and 327 others in the state to help select a re-employment committeeman to act as an employment agent for the soldiers when they want their jobs back.

Lt. Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, called on the local boards to submit nominations for the committee posts by Sept. 10 to state headquarers. Gov. John W. Bricker will appoint the committeemen.

The committee member, Col Goble said, may be a member of the draft board, of the advisory committee, or some other interested person.

It was estimated in Columbus that 8,000 Ohio draftees will leave the army for home by Dec. 10 to find jobs. The re-employment committeeman's task will be to help the men from his draft district get their old jobs back or find new jobs, and seek employment opportunities for men for whom the state employment service says it is unable to find jobs.

"It is of vital importance that the reinstatement of these men into industry be facilitated so that the returning soldiers will feel that the government has fully kept its promise of assistance by conserving their means of livelihood while they were in the armed forces," Col. Goble told the county draft boards.

IRAN SEEKS PEACE

Sends Request To Moscow, London as Observers See Resistance Weakening.

BULLETIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— The United Press listening post today heard Radio Berlin claim that German troops had captured Borislav, near the mouth of the Dnieper river.

(By Associated Press)

Giant walls of flame streaking up over the siege-girt port of Tallinn, capital of Estonia, indicated today that the Russians were destroying the city and presumably getting ready for a mass attempt to escape by sea.

German troops were reported to have the ancient Finnish gulf town (normal population, over 135,000) cut off on all sides by land.

Dispatches from Helsinki, Finland, 50 miles across the gulf, said the glow on the southern horizon above Tallinn began last night and continued this morning.

Observers on the Finnish shore also heard the thunder of artillery fire, indicating that German siege guns were pounding the city.

Only a few days ago, the Nazis said they had thwarted an attempt to send supplies to the beleaguered city, sinking seven Russian ships, two transports, a destroyer and a flotilla leader heading through the Gulf of Finland toward Tallinn.

Other rapid-fire developments crowded the international picture:

1. In London, informed sources predicted the collapse of Iran's resistance within the next three days as Russian troops driving southward into the Middle East oil king-

Manhole Covers Stolen as Price Of Metal Goes Up.

CLEVELAND—Over the past week-end, suburban police have reported the theft of more than 25 sewer manhole covers, each worth about $10, and 17 basin lids value at $2.50 apiece.

Cleveland police, making an investigation of all city junk yards, pointed out that the increased value of scrap iron has increased these thefts. Anybody walking near the uncovered manholes might have been fatally injured, they said.

dom reportedly captured Tabriz, the country's second biggest city, and British imperial forces striking northward advanced 40 miles.

2. In Berlin, the German high command reported that Adolf Hitler's invasion armies had annihilated the 22nd Russian army and captured the town of Velikie Luki, far behind the main German-Russian line, killing more than 40,000 Red army troops and taking 30,000 prisoners.

Velikie Luki lies 275 miles west of Moscow and 250 miles south of Leningrad, about midway between Lake Ilmen and Smolensk. Capture of the town would mean that the Germans had straightened out a deep bend in their lines on the central front, putting them in position for more concerted drives against both Moscow and Leningrad.

3. Delayed dispatches from Teheran, the Iran capital, reported that the British and Russian ministers, after an audience with the shah, had transmitted to their governments an Iranian plea for peace. The shah, it was said, had guaranteed that virtually all Germans in the country would be ousted within a week.

4. British reports from Simla, India, headquarters of the British command, said that Iran's small navy had been wiped out by British men o'war and that Iranian Admiral Bayendor had been killed in action.

British and Russian forces alike were striking swiftly in the three-day-old campaign in Iran in an effort to win a quick decision that would open a Gulf of Persia supply line to Russia and possibly form the basis of an Allied Caucasus defense line east of the Black sea.

Russian troops were reported to have captured Tabriz, Iran's second-largest city, yesterday after an advance of 60 miles from the Soviet frontier.

The Moscow radio was quoted as reporting, too, the fall of Shampur, 60 miles west of Tabriz in the northwest Iranian mountains, and Ardebil, 120 miles to the east, near the Caspian sea.

The British, using air-borne troops, reported virtual control of Iran's big southwestern and western oil fields, and there was speculation in London that the government at Teheran might suggest terms soon to end the hostilities.

There was no confirmation in Moscow of German claims that Luga, 90 miles south of Leningrad, and the big Dnieper bend hydro-electric power center at Dnieperopetrovsk had been captured.

The Russians reported holding out stubbornly around menaced Leningrad and said that although the Luftwaffe had struck at the fortified port repeatedly, not a single bomb had fallen within the city limits.

A Moscow communique said 121 German planes had been shot down in the Leningrad area or destroyed on the Luftwaffe's nearby air bases Sunday and Monday alone.

Military observers in Berlin expressed belief Germany's southern army would smash on across the Dnieper without allowing Russian Marshal Semeon Budyenny time to form an east bank defense to block the way to the rich Donets river basin.

A German drive toward the Donets and the Don would be aimed at Russia's big oil reserve east of the Black sea—and ultimately at flanking the Caucasus front.

Report Demand Colony Join Allies

VICHY—(U.P.)—Britain has demanded that French Somaliland, little French East African colony, join the British and Free French or face continued sea and land blockade, the Djibouti radio said today. Djibouti is the capital of French Somaliland.

The governor at Djibouti, nominally loyal to Vichy, was said to have informed the British that there soon would be no food for women and children. Djibouti is crowded with refugees from Ethiopia, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea.

Seek to Forestall Attack on Turkey

LONDON—(U.P.)—Secret negotiations are proceeding at Teheran for a Russo-British-Iranian agreement which would forestall a possible lightning German drive into Turkey, it was reported in diplomatic quarters today as Russian and British imperial forces continued their march into the ancient kingdom of the Shah.

It was emphasized that military operations were being conducted by the British and Russian high commands without regard to any diplomatic activity, partly because of the feeling that Iran might be girding for counter-attacks in the mountains, partly because of the suspicion that it might be awaiting word from Berlin.

Claim U. S. Knew of Iran Invasion Plan

BERLIN — (U.P.) — The United States knew in advance of British-Russian plans to invade Iran and President Roosevelt "played the role of pilate," authorized Nazi sources charged today.

President Roosevelt, it was said, did not admit knowing in advance of the Soviet-British campaign against Iran "but on the other hand, he obviously does not desire to brand his own friends as aggressors."

Erstwhile strikers stream through the gates, above, at the Kearny, N. The return to work came as Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen of the United States navy took over supervision of the plant.

German General Reported Killed

The Russian broadcast said it was rumored von Rundstedt was murdered by a German officer and that a number of arrests have been made.

Take Rough Action In French Revolt

GENEVA—(INS)—The authoritative newspaper Journal of Geneva today announced severe measures by the Vichy regime of unoccupied France against Communists and anarchists accused of organizing an actual revolution under the guise of a Nationalist movement.

The movement apparently was aimed at displacement of the regime of Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, who recently announced his determination to continue collaboration with Nazi Germany.

STUDIES HIKE IN TAX BILL

bers said, that some new taxes may be approved by the committee and some of the excise taxes contained in the house bill may be eliminated. A determined fight is to be made to eliminate the $5 annual automobile use tax.

After accepting the general principle of the house excess profits tax, the committee still had to act upon rates and some special rules. A squabble ensued over the house 10 per cent special income tax on corporations which show an increased profit, but do not earn enough to pay excess profits.

This provision is designed to hit such firms as steel companies which had operated at virtually no profit before the defense boom, and now enjoy earnings although not in the excess profits tax class.

The tax is fought on the ground that it penalizes many struggling corporations, which just now are getting out of the "red" and into the profit class.

The committee approved a boost to 20 per cent in the tax on safety deposit boxes. Present tax is 11 per cent.

MOLOTOV WARNS JAPS ON TRADE INTERFERENCE

Says Act Would Be Considered Unfriendly After Nippon Sends Protests.

of American war aid shipments via Vladivostok through the Sea of Japan.

In response, Molotov told Tatekawa that the Russian government considers groundless any Japanese disturbance over Russian imports of United States gasoline and other oils by way of far eastern ports.

In this connection, he added firmly, efforts to hinder Russo-American trade by way of Russia's far eastern ports could not but be considered other than an unfriendly act toward the Soviet Union.

By his statement, Molotov had put on record unequivocally Russia's intention of getting supplies from the United States by the normal route, to Vladivostok, and had given Japan unmistakable warning not to interfere.

Further, he had taken the opportunity to emphasize to Japan that Russia was fighting a purely defensive war.

This was an important factor because Japan, though bound to Germany by an alliance, has a neutrality treaty with Russia.

The Axis alliance to which Japan subscribes pledges its members to "undertake to assist one another with all political, economic and military means when one of the three contracting powers (Germany, Italy, Japan) is attacked by a power at present not involved in the European war or in the Chinese-Japanese conflict."

This pact was signed last Sept. 27. Thus Japan is not bound to aid Germany against Russia unless it chooses to decide that Russia attacked Germany.

Japs Hit Shipment Of Fuel to Russia

TOKYO —(AP)— Domei, quoting what it described as reliable sources, said the Japanese government had made representations recently to both the United States and Soviet Russia against shipments of American aviation fuel to the Soviet via Vladivostok.

The government, said the news agency, is taking a serious view of the situation.

Reports that both Russian and American ships are transporting not only gasoline but other supplies through Vladivostok was said to be "greatly irritating Japanese sentiment."

The fact that high octane fuel denied Japan was reported "passing under the very noses of the Japanese" was described as especially displeasing.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was received in audience this morning by Emperor Hirohito. Foreign Minister Vice Admiral Teijiro Toyoda later was received at the palace, presumably for a report on the complex international situation, but no details of the audience were disclosed.

Domei asserted that about 10,000,000 gallons of high octane gasoline already had left the United States, bound for Soviet Russia, including four shiploads which sailed from west coast ports around Aug. 16.

Military Mission Hints New Attitude

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States, by announcing a military mission to Chungking gave Japan tangible proof today that this country intended no change in its attitude toward the so-called China incident.

The announcement that the mission would depart in two weeks also was apparently calculated to reassure the government of Chiang Kai-Shek that the lease-lend program would continue unchanged in its effort to supply ill-armed China.

When Prime Minister Churchill, in his speech Sunday, mentioned that the United States was negotiating with Japan in hopes of "a fair and amicable settlement" in the Orient, uneasy fears were voiced in Chungking that some sort of an appeasement deal might be under discussion.

Secretary of State Hull acted promptly to spike such reports, explaining to his press conference Monday that existing conversations with Japan were of an informal character.

President Roosevelt further hit the appeasement reports yesterday when he disclosed that he was about to send the military mission to the battered Chinese capital at Chungking.

The phrasing of the official announcement led some to believe that closer co-ordination was planned in the moves of forces opposed to Japanese expansion in the Orient.

Brigadier General John Magruder was named as the head of the mission, but the remainder of its personnel was not immediately made known.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1941.

Hunger in the present generation is not satisfied by promises of a plentiful distant future.

The trouble with some people is that their installment buying is done in the belief that winning the bank night award is a sure thing.

Robert Quillen has an idea: "Don't let any official tell you that all expenditures are necessary. Give him a dime of every dollar saved and he'll cut expenses in half."

Billions for Defense—Not Waste

CONGRESS is hard pressed to find more tax sources without seriously antagonizing a large number of voters.

The tax bill passed by the house falls short, by several hundred million dollars, of meeting even minimum requirements of the government spending program.

The senate is now wrestling with the problem of pulling in more tax money and its finance committee proposes cutting exemptions to $1,500 for married persons and to $750 for single wage earners.

Opposition is already being encountered to this proposal, although some New Deal spokesmen express belief that persons in the low income group "would welcome the opportunity to share in paying the national defense bill."

Suggested reduction of a single person's income tax reckoning from the present $800 to $750 is almost too picayunish to merit serious consideration, in the total taxes it would produce, as compared with the millions of dollars of public money now being wasted, but the proposal to fix $1,500 as the maximum tax-exempt income of married persons would tend to materially reduce the living standards of millions of families who have already been hard pressed to make ends meet.

For persons like President Roosevelt, with his carefully safeguarded inherited fortune and present large family income, and for his favored associates living comfortably on inherited wealth and public bounty, the problems of millions of persons who rate as "the great middle class" are more academic than realistic. It takes a person who has at some time EARNED money by actual WORK to realize the value of a dollar!

There is talk of lack of unity on the part of the people of the United States—and appearance of unwillingness to make further sacrifices in behalf of national defense.

As nearly as can be ascertained by widespread polls, and other expressions of public sentiment, THERE IS NO LACK OF UNITY on the subject of national defense AND NO UNWILLINGNESS TO MEET LEGITIMATE COSTS OF ADEQUATE DEFENSE.

But there is a very clearly defined belief over the country that there has been, and continues to be, profligate waste of money by the present federal administration and that there are ways in which no less than $2,000,000,000 a year in non-defense expenditures could be saved.

When—or if—President Roosevelt and his associate tax spenders show an earnest determination to cut non-essential expenditures, and when congress acts to the accomplishment of this purpose, a quite different attitude may be expected on the part of those millions of people who raise objection to higher taxes to meet non-defense costs while actual defense requirements are steadily increasing.

'Snookie's' Lucky Break

SNOOKIE was a fortunate little girl, happening to run across a couple of friendly police officers that way, after she had decided to "take a walk" when nobody chanced to be looking after her.

At the age of 21 months, "Snookie" evidences some precociousness in the matter of getting out "on her own"—as that trait is most likely to develop between the ages of two and four, when it is not at all unusual for a child to become very thoroughly "lost."

Sometimes it turns out all right, as in "Snookie's" case—but at other times there are serious, occasionally fatal, consequences, and the best bet is to keep a parental eye on children in that age range.

Also worth while, at the earliest possible moment, is to teach a child his (or her) name, place of residence and father's first name—which can be done at the age of two, or thereabouts. Also teach the child that a policeman is a friend.

Wilful Profiteering Charged

A STRANGE situation has developed in connection with the alleged gasoline shortage in eastern states.

In the first place it appears that motorists disregarded the request of Fuel Administrator Ickes that they voluntarily cut down 20 per cent on gas consumption, and they also found ways to circumvent the 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. closing regulation—and the later 10 per cent reduction in allowance.

Now Price Administrator Leon Henderson bursts out with the astounding charge that some dealers "are wilfully profiteering at the expense of motorists" and that action must be taken to stabilize retail gasoline prices in eastern states.

If, under present conditions, SOME of the dealers were NOT wilfully profiteering on gasoline prices in eastern states THAT would be news.

In fact, when tourists find gasoline prices ranging around 25 to 27 cents a gallon in some of the western states, where supply and transportation facilities are assumed to be entirely adequate, the suspicion of profiteering extends further than the eastern area.

A special senate committee is to investigate the situation in eastern states—and while it's about it why not also check up on the idea of those western states that seem to think gasoline prices should be "all the traffic will bear."

American Aid for Russia

AMERICANS are beginning to realize that, in spite of clashing ideologies, our country may be able in emergencies to co-operate with Russia to our own advantage. By shipping arms, for instance—and for due consideration—by the north European route, and likewise to the Red Siberian front from Alaska.

If we can keep big Japanese forces mobilized on that front by fear of Russian attack, they will bother us less in the South Seas and the Philippines.

An orthopedist reports that three Americans in five have one leg longer than the other—and the percentage may be even greater by the time next year's tax bills have been paid.

Getting Experience

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE "kids who can't get a start" . . . High School graduates, too poor for college . . . too young for Draftee status . . . to inexperienced for regular jobs . . . how can they find a place in the working world? There's a question which is agitating many a home and demoralizing many a young life in America today.

Seventy-five per cent of our juvenile delinquency starts during that period when the unemployed youngster drifts aimlessly, "waiting for something to break" . . . growing more disgusted and discouraged by the hour. Want jobs? Of course they do! They're poisoned with envy of the "lucky kids who land something quick" . . . filled with increasing distrust of a system which has, seemingly, denied them their fair chance. But one question always blocks their search:

"HOW MUCH EXPERIENCE HAVE YOU HAD?"

How much experience? Obviously, none! For the simple reason that scarcely any provision has been made to bridge the gap between academic theories and practical work programs. Whose fault is it? Are the youngsters, themselves, too difficult? Have the parents been unwise, or indifferent . . . left it "up to Teacher?" Is the school to blame . . . out of step with realities? Or are Business and Labor responsible?

A tough handful of questions! Wherefore we introduce, with special pride, Lawrence A. Barrett, superintendent of Salida Public Schools, District Number Seven, Salida, Colorado. For "Prof." Barrett and his team mates, plus a notable group of civic-minded business men, have evolved a plan to meet this problem — and for five years it has worked.

"We call it," says Superintendent Barrett, "our 'Cooperative Industrial Program.' Actually, it's a plan whereby the schools, shops, homes and offices all work together to help the youngster find his place in practical life.

"Every year, about the middle of the senior year, each twelfth grader, who is sure he or she will not attend college, is invited to enroll in this program. This means that they will thereafter spend half their time in the class room and half in 'practical' work in the shops and offices of the city where they will acquire the necessary 'experience' that will help them greatly in securing employment after graduation.

"Employers pay nothing for such service and are under no obligation . . . but the school gives credit, if work is well done, and the executives gladly recognize such credit. Eighteen weeks of such work teaches diversified methods and gives the pupil a wonderful workout in meeting and adjusting himself to people. Also, it usually results in a permanent position after graduation, as most employers prefer 'hand trained' workers.

"Some people think our plan 'exploits labor,' but we believe it offers the first, practical tie-up between school, home and workshop which modern Youth has ever known. What possible 'exploitation' could be worse than our present system of turning youngsters out in wholesale lots, 'all dressed up with no place to go?' NO WONDER THE FIFTH COLUMNISTS AND AGITATORS FIND READY MATERIAL FOR THEIR INSIDIOUS POISON!"

Lawrence A. Barrett,
Superintendent of Schools,
Salida, Colorado.

Which, says I, is as fine a picture of real democracy at work as I've ever seen. And here's my hand to the fine men and women who are making it possible. Wish I could send their story to every board of education, every chamber of commerce and juvenile court in America!

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Aug. 27, 1921.

"Main Street," by Sinclair Lewis, had just been issued and was being much discussed.

P. W. Backenstos returned from 10-days Florida trip as representative of Hughes-Keenan company.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Ford, son Thomas and daughter Mary Alice, left on motor trip through the east.

Mrs. E. D. Galloway, 99 South Franklin avenue, underwent operation at Parker sanitarium.

Miss Dorothy Bacon, Baldwin avenue, left for Honolulu to take position as instructor in music.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Aug. 27, 1936.

Miss Katharine Hartman returned from a vacation in Maine.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell, South Main street.

Miss Josephine Jacot enrolled as a student at Wilcox College of Commerce at Cleveland.

A school bus and a car operated by Robert Spetka collided on Park avenue east.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On August 27, 1894, the Wilson-Gorman tariff law was enacted without the president's signature. Included in its provisions was one which made it lawful for the government to tax incomes to make revenue. In 1895, the Supreme Court declared this provision unconstitutional.

Timely Editorial

Mr. Mellett Knows.

In an article in the Atlantic Monthly, Lowell Mellett, director of the Office of Government Reports, praises the facilities available to the American people for learning what is going on in the world. Particularly he mentions the contribution of the newspapers, the radio and the "free American press associations."

The Office of Government Reports certainly would be much less efficient if its material, collected at great expense, were not made immediately available to the public through the press. It is in striking contrast with conditions in many parts of the world, that the American news-distributing agencies are praised by a government official as "free."

The praise is the more to be appreciated because Mr. Mellett is one of the few people connected with the government who have had opportunity to know newspapers from the inside and therefore knows what he is talking about.—Detroit News.

Editor News-Journal:

I wish to tell you how much we enjoy the column in your paper written by Calvin A. Byers "A Farmer's Diary." This column is written so true to life and a perfect word-written picture that it makes one feel as though they were with the writer. Willkie Chosen Spokesman for Movie Makers In Wheeler Grill

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—That isolationist-packed senate interstate commerce subcommittee appointed by Senator Burt Wheeler to investigate "war propaganda" in the movies and radio may get more than it is bargaining for when it tackles the movie makers.

They haven't advertised it, but they are quietly preparing to give the committee a hot head-on reception on all issues it undertakes to raise.

One of the surprises up their sleeve is to have Wendell Willkie as their spokesman and legal counsel.

The Republican leader is an old hand in dealing with congressional committees. Before he entered the political arena he faced many of them and the repute he won battling them had a lot to do with his meteoric rise in politics.

A militant anti-isolationist, Willkie also has strong personal feelings about Wheeler's hand-picked committee. Willkie considers it a "sneak" investigation and part of an organized isolationist drive to terrorize opponents into silence.

The charge of "sneak" investigation appears will founded. The senate has not authorized the probe, the committee has no power to subpoena anyone, and is operating wholly on Wheeler's say so as chairman of the Interstate Commerce committee. Four of five members he appointed are fellow isolationist zealots and the fifth, McFarland of Arizona, is a rookie of only seven months' senate experience.

Further, as if this biased setup were not enough, the committee also is secretly trying to pick its "victims." It has carefully selected certain movie executives for questioning, apparently with the intention of not permitting others to be heard.

How Congressmen Vote.

THE HOUSE'S refusal to override the president's veto of the $320,000,000 pork-loaded highway bill did not set well with Representative Wilburn Cartwright, chairman of the roads committee. Ordinarily the Oklahoman is genial and tolerant, but he worked long and hard to put over the measure and the rebuff stung him to the quick.

So he sent a letter to his fellow congressmen telling them caustically what he thought of them.

"It was an interesting tussle," he said among other jibes. "It was funny to watch congressmen change back and forth before the vote was announced. Being a congressman is a great character builder. Some have to take a referendum every day to find their convictions.

"P. S.: There are three things hard to predict — what a mule will do, who a woman will marry, and how a congressman will vote."

Cartwright's aggrieved blast drew the following kidding reply from California's witty John H. Tolan:

"Dear Wilburn: I would suggest that in order to find out how a congressman is going to vote, you first take his age and his congressional district, subtract the number of people in his district, and then throw the whole thing in the waste basket. With all good wishes . . ."

Merry-Go-Round.

EDWIN L. GROOME, Washington radio commentator, has a novel plan to encourage the development of new arms and combat methods by members of the army, navy and marine corps. He proposes that the government establish an annual award, similar to the Pulitzer prize, to be given to the officer or enlisted man making the best contribution to military science . . . . Townsendites are making a big ado over the fact that they have 148 signatures on a house petition for a hearing on their bill. But they say nothing about the fact that the rival general welfare old-age pension bill has 168 signatures on a similar petition. Although less publicized, the general welfare bill has much stronger backing than the Townsend measure in both the senate and house.

Civil Defense Troubles.

REAL REASON for that mysterious visit to the White House of Dean James Landis, of Harvard law school and former chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, was to try to persuade him to become second man to Mayor LaGuardia as civil defense administrator.

With LaGuardia at his Washington desk only one or two days a week, civil defense preparations have been progressing at a limping pace. This has caused considerable undercover grumbling and in an effort to meet the criticism, LaGuardia conceived the idea of making Landis his right-hand lieutenant.

Landis already is regional director of civil defense in New England. But he declined subbing for LaGuardia in Washington. Landis' excuse was that he couldn't leave certain special work he is doing.

Failing to persuade Landis himself, LaGuardia hustled him over to the White House in the hope that Roosevelt would have better luck. But Landis refused to be moved.

The same day, also undisclosed, there was another eruption in LaGuardia's headquarters' staff, Russell Davenport, Willkie braintruster in last year's campaign, threw up the sponge and walked out. He is the fourth LaGuardia assistant to depart.

Davenport was brought to Washington to work on plans for a morale campaign. After several weeks of doing nothing, during which time LaGuardia was in town twice, Davenport told him he saw no reason for staying any longer and left.

More Defense Changes.

THE PLAN formulated by White House advisers to solve the long dispute between OPM and OPACS over priorities control by setting up a new seven-man board has been enlarged.

In its latest form the proposal would also give this board general policy making powers over the whole defense program.

That is, this board, consisting of Vice President Wallace, Secretaries Stimson, Knox and Morgenthau, OPM Chiefs Knudsen and Hillman, and OPACS Director Henderson, would be a sort of general staff of defense production.

The board would fix policies on all production issues and OPM, OPACS, the army, navy and various other agencies connected with the defense program would put them into effect in their particular fields.

Also, to further integrate OPM and OPACS in order to obtain smoother co-operative functioning between them, the civilian supply part of OPACS would be made an OPM division. Henderson would continue to be head as he does now as part of OPACS, but he would do so as an OPM official under Knudsen and Hillman.

This would give him a dual role. On one hand he would be head of an independent agency controlling prices, and on the other an OPM divisional chief in charge of civilian supply. In both capacities he would have a voice in all priority questions as a member of the seven-man policy board. In turn, its priority decisions would be enforced by the priorities division of OPM.

Whether this plan becomes operative depends on the president. He is still studying it and it may undergo more changes before he acts.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK — Strange what a little patience can accomplish . . . With fleas, for instance . . . Ever been to a flea circus, and watched them waltz together, and run races, and haul chariots? . . .

Well, take it from Donald Meek, the actor, it's more gravity than patience, or skill. . . . When a flea is hauling a chariot, the table is tilted a little. . . . He isn't pulling the chariot. . . . The chariot is pushing him downhill. . . . Same way when they sprint. . . . They're running down hill. . . . The incline is slight, but it's there. It's gravity.

Meek, who has first hand knowledge of such matters, was once top man in a pyramid. . . . He worked with tumblers, with acrobats. . . . In Canada, in a fall one day, he broke his collarbone. . . . That opened his eyes. . . . Suppose he had broken his back? . . . You can't take bows with a broken back, now can you? . . .

So Meek became an actor. . . . His co-workers say he is one of the few really good ad-lib actors on the screen. . . . Rarely pays attention to a scrip. . . . The sense of the lines just comes to him, and he uses his own words.

Since we're talking about actors today, let's talk about Lugosi, the spook man . . . He's the man who, with Karloff, scares the daylights out of you in pictures . . . You say to Lugosi, "Hey, as a kid, were you ever frightened?" . . . "Not I," says Lugosi. "There were too many of us . . . I had seven or eight brothers and sisters . . . I slept in a room with half a dozen kids . . . How could I be scared?

"But, I'll tell you one thing . . . When I became an actor, and went to Hollywood, I got myself a big house . . . Maybe it was too big . . . I used to shut myself up in one wing of that house at night, and read sometimes till nearly morning . . . It was too lonesome to sleep . . . Maybe I wasn't lonesome, maybe I was a little scared and didn't realize it . . . Well, I fixed that, all right . . . How? . . . Easy as pie . . . I got married."

THERE'S a new girl in town, a singer, and pretty as a picture . . . Just 21 . . . She's at the Rainbow Room, and they've given her an eight weeks' contract . . . Name's Laure Deane Dutton, and her dad's a colonel in the U. S. army. . . . . .

Remember Prince Serge Obelensky of the St. Regis? . . . As tall as Anthony Eden, and as meticulous . . . Thin as a reed . . . An aristocrat . . . In Russia, if the Czar had survived, he would be up there pretty high in military rank—at least a general . . . Just had word from him today . . . He's a sergeant in the U. S. army . . . In the 17th regiment . . . Stationed at an armory at 34th street and Park avenue.

Funny how famous restaurateurs like their sons to follow in their footsteps . . . There's Vincent Sardi, boss of world famous Sardis . . . His son, Junior, practically runs the place. He's there more than the old man is . . . Then there's Billy LaHiff, jr., following after the old man, the late Billy LaHiff, whose tavern was famous . . . Dave, of Dave's Blue Room, and Willie, son of famed Dinty Moore, are restaurant men . . . New York changes, but somehow the old names linger in the neon.

A Farmer's Diary

Here's to a Chief!

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN A SMALL Ohio town, I saw a policeman talking with two old men and stopped to ask him where I might find a certain business place. Immediately the conversation stopped, and the two old men walked on, but I was surprised to hear the officer say with a smile, "Come back and we'll swap some more."

Then he turned cordially to me, and pointed out the very door I wished to enter. I noticed on his shiny badge the inscription "Chief of Police." Mentally I noted that he was about the most affable officer of the law I had ever seen.

I felt more amiable, myself, as I went on to the place of business, and with an inward chuckle, decided that even if my intentions in that town had been wrong, I could not have acted rashly against the good will of such a man. In fact, if I had been a burglar by profession, I would, I think, have gone elsewhere to do my burgling.

My errand consumed no more than half an hour, and presently I returned. The officer was still there, and again I sized him up. He was taller than average, less than 40 years old, strong, clean cut, confident. He had keen, kindly dark eyes. The lines of his face were not all mirthful, but showed purposefulness and determination. As he stood among the passersby, his visage and his whole demeanor did not produce an atmosphere of impending doom, but rather a delight that he was there. In short, his very presence brought out the best in folks. I stopped again.

"It seems strange to me that you speak to everybody as if they were your friends," I said. "Why do you?"

"I feel that way," he said. "Being a policeman is more fun if you're interested in people. They are not my charges, but my equals, mostly—they're all folks, and I like 'em. Most of them will turn a wrong corner sometimes, or run through a light—even as you and I—but I'd rather reason with any man than insult him, and if I have to give him a ticket, I find it makes it easier for him to pay his fine if I treat him human.

"I tell the police force under me to be pleasant and obliging, and not afraid to smile. It'll make their work easier. Fact is a grouch can't hold a job on our force. We're servants of the public and it's up to us to give the best wholehearted service possible. Come back again, if you're ever down this way."

"Thank you," I said. "I'd like to. Yours is a fine town."

PARK PROGRAM FOR MANSFIELD CHILDREN ENDS

Average Attendance of 1,500 Per Week Reported By Cram In Survey of Summer.

After being open since June 16 Mansfield's city park program for youngstetrs will close Friday, Donald Cram, secretary of the Softball association, stated today.

During the 10-week period programs, sponsored by the Softball association and manned by WPA workers, supplied recreation programs to an average of 1,500 children a week, Cram said.

Programs at Johns, North, Prospect, Liberty parks and Dunbar center presented children with craft programs, swimming, softball games, folk dancing and other types of informal games.

The program was set up after a playground tax levy failed to pass and the city could no longer finance salaries for leaders at the parks. The Softball association and the WPA together financed leaders and bought equipment for children to use.

Cram said it was his opinion today that the sponsorship of the program should be returned again to the city and at even a larger basis than it was before.

"Our system has worked and we've had a successful year," he asserted, "but such city-wide functions are in the province of the city government. I, personally, believe that if possible, a full-time recreation man should be employed by Mansfield's city government to conduct a full time, all-year program both for adults and children."

Pointing out that Mansfield was well equipped with natural equipment to make an all-winter program possible, Cram pointed to the many lakes and hills surrounding Mansfield which he claimed make it ideal for winter sports.

SEEKS ORDER

City To Ask Priority To Get Signal System Cable.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today that the city would seek priority order for the delivery of cable needed for repairs to the police and fire signal system.

Council has appropriated $5,000 for extending a new section of underground cable between Mulberry and Wood streets on West First street.

Crafton said that although the Simplex Cable company, which holds the contract for the cable, is willing to supply the city, that a special priority writ from the government is required. Because cities are being given priority rights, Crafton said he believed that getting government approval will be merely a formality.

The $5,000 appropriation was made over the objection of Mayor William J. Locke, council overrode the mayor's veto of the ordinance granting the appropriation.

BOYS PLACED ON PROBATION

Two Shiloh boys, aged 14 and 16, who rode home from Plymouth last Wednesday night on bicycles that did not belong to them, were placed on probation yesterday by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

The boys told the judge they had obtained a ride to Plymouth and saw in the bicycles a means of getting home after the movies. They were brought to the juvenile detention home Sunday by sheriff deputies and returned to their own homes yesterday. This was their first offense.

Mrs. Faust Heads Education Group Of A. A. U. W.

Mrs. Clifford Faust, 368 North Townview Circle, is the education chairman of the Mansfield chapter, A. A. U. W. and will conduct activities of this group during the coming season.

Members of this University women's group will be interested in the work of Dr. Laura Thompson. young anthropologist, author and fellow of the American Association of University Women. She advocates setting psychologists, sociologists and anthropologists to work at defining and analyzing democracy as the bedrock of American morale.

Dr. Thompson, who spent two years in Germany studying the educational system during the rise of Hitlerism, and who has since been engaged in field studies of Pacific island cultures, argues after this fashion:

"Hitler has made full use of his scientists—not merely physical scientists producing ersatz and war weapons, but also psychologists and sociologists who have produced powerful weapons of propaganda.

"We don't have the same aim—but we need to use the full power of science also.

"Our government should employ scientists — psychologists, anthropologists—all branches of the social sciences—to develop the ideal of democracy, what it means, what it can do. There should be a scientific basis for our national thinking, feeling and action.

"For instance, 'morale' does not mean working a nation up to war, it means meeting the great threat to our whole democratic set-up, the threat to the freedom of the individual.

"If our youth do not have the concept and feeling for democracy which motivates them to act, they are disturbed mentally. If they are not ready to sacrifice to save democracy, it is due to lack of a well-knit ideology. Nazism does give to its youth a motivating ideology. We could too. We have everything to work with, a great deal to use."

Dr. Thompson urges that this nation lose no time in organizing, perhaps within the federal government, a fact-finding body of scientists to work on the content side of democracy.

For several weeks this summer, Dr. Thompson was in Washington as adviser to the Department of the Navy on Guam, where she made a field study on the culture in 1938-39. She is author of "Growing Up In Guam," and "Fijian Frontier."

Working on an A.A.U.W. fellowship, she is now making a study of the exceedingly complex culture of the island where she was born and lives—Hawaii—as part of a basic community survey of education.

. . . the Marguerite Speas Studio of Dance brought to Mansfield a modern, complete dancing school. In these years, we have made many friends, and we've had the gratifying pleasure of teaching many of you, young and old alike, the enjoyment of dancing. This studio's reputation is based, not upon showmanship, but upon a record of achievement and service.

That you merited the teaching methods, the personnel, and the operating policies maintained by this studio, is evidenced by each succeeding year's enrollment growth. This coming season, circumstances demand that the enrollment of pupils be limited. In order to insure the same high quality of personal instruction, Miss Marguerite Speas will instruct all students. Miss Speas' qualifications for teaching the dance are found by examining her actual professional and civic record, and her specialized dance instruction training at one of the nation's leading schools for Dance Teachers.

We are sorry that this limitation of enrollment makes available only a small number of openings for instructions during the coming season. No new registrations for either class or private lessons beyond Miss Speas' capacity to give highest quality instruction will be accepted. For information concerning the available registrations and reservations for future enrollment, dial 1616-1.

Give A Party For Friends In Army

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

In answer to a good many letters which have come to this column, about giving parties to soldiers, herewith are a few suggestions:

There is, of course, the hearty neighborhood free-for-all dance, where a street is roped off, a band volunteers to play, and a certain number of girls agree to dance with the soldiers regardless of whether they are "foot manglers." Even staid old Washington, D. C., has tried out one of these street-dancing parties, roping off a street and having hostesses introduce girls and see that everyone has a good time.

But after all, when one has a friend in camp, one likes to give him and a few of his chosen buddies something a little more special in the way of a party. Such a party recently, thrown near Washington showed considerable ingenuity and proved to be highly successful. While this party was not given for soldiers, a number of the guests invited were expecting summons to camp, and the festivity was by way of inducting them painlessly into army life.

The young men reported for duty in khaki and entered the house through a tent labeled "Camp Awalt" (the name of the host) which had been erected at the front door. Once inside, signs directed the guests to follow the arrows to the place of registration. There vital statistics were taken and each registrant was issued a number, an identification card and a ration ticket. Following instructions the future draftees gathered on the back lawn where a draft lottery was held, the results informing each selectee of his duties for the evening —K. P. and such.

These things done, there was relaxation. In wooded sections off the garden, a sylvan postoffice was to be found where letters were hung on trees. Guests were supplied with a box of matches apiece and instructed to search the woods for mail and to decode letters into passwords which would entitle them to use their ration cards for the picnic supper served later on the lawn.

An International spy game with foreign agents stealing vital war plans from the camp was an up-to-the minute version of that childhood's play "Cops and Robbers."

Nothing beats an evening picnic, where the food is prepared over a charcoal grill in some selected spot, or on the banks of a stream. Once everyone had to burn his or her hands with a crude arrangement of sticks from which kettles were hung to do the cooking, but now excellent grills may be had as low as $1 each. The charcoal briquettes for firing them cost only a few cents.

Pleasing Voice Is Asset to Your Charm

By MME. QUI VIVE

Voice qualities develop in childhood. Speaking is largely the result of imitation. Learning to speak is not easy; a number of complex movements are necessary to form words and sentences. The wise mother will speak to her children in a modulated voice. She will speak distinctly. If a child's voice is thick, harsh or rasping, there may be a physical cause for it. Enlarged tonsils and adenoids interfere with enunciation because they hold back the sound waves after they leave the larynx.

In a woman a disagreeable voice is a charm handicap. No matter how lovely she may be, how charming her manners, how lively her mentality, an unpleasant voice that causes you to grow goose flesh makes her an unwelcome guest. Those who must bear with her penetrating, shrill chatter feel like clapping their hands over their ears and running away.

Singing lessons will change and improve the qualities of the speaking voice. Tones will be more musical, the speaker will learn control. It makes the lungs laugh because fresh air is tickling them in their depths.

There are voices other than shrill ones that are displeasing. The dorning, one-key rumble, for instance, that makes you drowsy.

A black mark must be given to the speed-breaking gabber whose words pile out fast so that nobody else will break into the conversation and beat her out of her talking rights. You can bet she will always have a long, long story to tell and one in which you have not the slightest interest. She doesn't stop to catch her breath. One wonders how she does it. She is a one woman talking marathon.

Whiners are the worst of all. Those women who are forever talking about their troubles. What happens to them, my hearties? They lose their friends. They are avoided. No wet blanket ever won any popularity prizes.

There are three rules to remember: mind the quality of the voice. Be choosey with your words, selecting the right ones. Endeavor to create pleasing cadences.

Keep to a middle register, reserving high and low notes for emphasis. Don't run your words together, greeting an acquaintance with "haryer?" Don't say "yeah" for yes. Don't drop the final "g"; that is a common habit. "Is she goin' or comin'?" Sloppy, that's what it is. Endeavor to speak distinctly.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"You've punched that ticket squarely in the middle," Mary told me, with a grin. "I wanted something with which my fingers could fiddle while I watched him. You see, I just couldn't sit there and either stare at him or look down at my hands while he was examining the papers. But if I had some food, I could manage the furtive watching stunt like nobody's business.

"Steve didn't take out the envelope until my order and his drink came to bat. Then he took out the envelope, opened it—there were two or three seals on it—and took out what was in it.

Figures and Queer Characters.

"It didn't look very startling at first. Just two or three sheets of heavy paper covered with figures, and a few sheets of the thinnest kind of paper, some of which seemed perfectly blank, while others held some queer-looking characters—like Chinese letters, almost.

"I don't know whether I'm clairvoyant or not," Mary said, "but there was something about those thin sheets of paper that got me. They seemed to be spelling out a message to me to take them away from Steve, and I began to wonder if I was getting dopey when he put the papers together.

"He left them in a pile for just a second, while he took a pull at his drink, and in that second—I'll always believe in a special providence for me after this—a gust of wind came and whirled those papers all over the table and the floor.

Mary Secrets Evidence.

"He evidently tr-r-us-ted me," she went on, "for he said, 'Hold the ones on the table, will you please, while I gather up the others?'

"Then he started chasing the pages that had whirled to the floor. A waiter came up to help him, and while they were busy, believe me, I never worked faster in my life.

"One of the slips had blown off my side of the table and was nestling against my foot, as if it had come home. With one hand holding the pile down on the table, and both eyes glued on Steve and the waiter to see they weren't looking, I reached my other hand down, grabbed that piece of flimsy crumpled it and put it inside the top of my stocking.

"Then I pretended to be arranging the pile of blown papers on the table, and I got the chance to slip two more, one blank and one with the queer characters on it, out of the pile, and then, all crumpled up, inside my blouse, before Steve got back."

Favored By Lady Luck.

"But that was terribly dangerous, Mary," I said anxiously. "Sooner or later he would discover they were missing, and suspect you."

"I thought of that for a second," she said, "but decided the game was worth it. And then Lady Luck handed me something gorgeous, right on a silver platter."

"If you keep on making such long pauses, I'll—I'll—" I threatened impotently.

"I'll make it snappy," she promised. "I told you a breeze blew the papers, but I didn't tell you it come from a window at the side of the booth. So when Steve came back, I was stitting forlornly at the table, a picture of distress, with my hands frantically clutching the bundle of papers.

Does a Bit Of Acting.

" 'Oh, Steve,' I wailed, 'can you ever forgive me? I wasn't quite quick enough in grabbing these, and two, perhaps three, of the sheets went out of the window. I'm so sorry.'

"I turned on the weeps with that, not overdoing it."

"It worked, didn't it?" I asked with twitching lips, for I knew just how effective must have been that bit of histrionism.

"Like the most potent charm you ever saw," she said. "He let out a smothered oath as he dashed to the door, but he threw a 'Never mind, kid; it's all right!' over his shoulder as he went. And—he didn't take the papers with him, so he still tr-u-st-ed me, you see."

Dutch Apple Pudding Royal Finish for Meal

By BETSY NEWMAN

Next in popularity to two-crusted apple pie, comes Dutch apple pudding. It is an easy dessert to make and is a royal finish to a meal.

Today's Menu.

Beefsteak Pie Scalloped Tomatoes
Broccoli Celery Pickles
Dutch Apple Pudding
Coffee or Tea

* * *

Beefsteak Pie.

1½ lbs. round steak
1 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
Plain pie paste
Cold water.

Cut meat in thin slices and a little beef fat into very small pieces. Mix flour, salt and pepper on a plate and dip each piece of meat into it. Put a little fat in each piece of meat and roll up. Lay these rolls of meat in a pie dish and fill about ⅔ with cold water. Cover dish and bake in moderate oven for 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Cover with plain pastry and bake ½ hour longer. You can cook vegetables such as onions, potatoes and carrots with meat if you wish.

* * *

Dutch Apple Pudding.

2 cps. flour
¼ cp. butter
1 cp. milk (scant)
4 sour apples.
2 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ cp. sugar
1 egg

Mix and sift dry ingredients, beat egg, add milk, then stir into dry ingredients. Spread dough ½ inch thick in shallow baking pan. Core, pare and cut apples into eighths and lay them on dough, sprinkle with sugar and bake in 400 degree oven for 20 or 30 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

* * *

Lemon Sauce.

2 cps. hot water
1 cp. sugar
3 tbsp. cornstarch
Grated rind and juice 1 lemon
1 tbsp. butter

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes, add the cornstarch which has been made into a paste with cold water, and cook 8 or 10 minutes over hot water if you prefer. Add grated lemon rind, juice and butter. Stir until butter is melted and serve over pudding.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

REVERSING THE DUMMY

SOME OF the prettiest play in bridge is done by tactics which experts call "reversing the dummy." It consists of treating the dummy as the master hand, using the declarer's own trumps for ruffing out the dummy's losers—just the reverse of the usual process, which calls for ruffing the declarer's losers with the dummy's trumps. Usually the choice of this method is made when the dummy is nearer to being a set-up hand than the other one. It is especially spectacular when the dummy has only about three trumps and the declarer five or more.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	2 ♥	2 ♠
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♥	Pass

After the spade 8 knocked out the dummy's A, North saw two opposite ways of planning his play. One was to try to set up his own hand, discarding a couple of diamonds on the dummy's hearts and ruffing a couple of spades. The other was to set up the dummy, using his own hand to ruff a heart or so if necessary to get the suit set up, and using the dummy's three trumps as the key. That is the course he chose.

For the second trick, he laid down the club A and led the J, deciding to play West for the Q because he had bid. The club Q won this, and East fired back his diamond Q to knock out the K, but the A won in the closed hand. The club K then took out the last hostile trump and the 10 was used to get a diamond discard from the dummy—itself an unusual play. The heart 5 to the A, then the K and Q showed West with the high J. So the heart 2, ruffed by the club 9 settled that. Then the diamond 3 to the K furnished entry for the heart 10 and 3, completing the contract.

If North had guessed East for the club Q, he would have made 13 tricks by this style of play. Those who tried other methods in the same duplicate were set.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

What is the soundest play of this deal a 3-No Trumps by South after West leads the heart 3?

An eventful and surprising day is presaged by the interesting lunar and mutual configurations. An element of the curious, subtle, and unfathomable seems at the root of distinctly thrilling, intriguing and successful adventures, in which public issues or recognition is at stake. These may be major projects in which rich and powerful bodies or personages figure both openly and directly as well in a rather concealed or silent mode of co-operation. Constructive ideas and objectives should be advanced by hidden forces or faculties, shrewdly utilized.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a year in which unknown, subtle or singular forces and faculties may be cunningly utilized to advance projects of major importance to the public or influential bodies of wealth and power. Intrigue, cleverly organized strategy, inspired or intuitional factors figure with determination and effect. Unusual ideas and ideals practically applied, as well as logic and sound methods, should prove winners, creating progress and pleasure.

CHAPTER XV

A few days later Cherry announced she was going to hunt for a job. She wouldn't go back to modeling she declared, but would look for something else to do. April thought she should go home and finish college, if she weren't going to marry Pat.

But Cherry refused to even consider such a thing. She still felt she couldn't face the girls in school after what she had been through. She would be a curiosity, and no one would believe she had really changed.

"I've got enough money with my salary to support us, if you will marry me honey," Pat had told her unhappily when she said she was going to work.

There was still a fear in his mind that she might get back into the old wild crowd if she got a job. She was so young and impressionable and temperamental.

But Cherry, even though she assured Pat of her love, declared stoutly she would not marry him and hurt his career. He had a wonderful opportunity with Curt De Witt, and she wasn't going to be the one to spoil his chances.

When Cherry started job hunting she discovered that, in so far as business offices were concerned, she was just another pretty little blond who didn't look as though she would ever settle down to anything serious. Women personnel managers, Cherry decided, positively resented her.

What did she have to offer with nothing but a few weeks in college to her credit, and no business experience of any sort? Cherry was surprised that out of all the places she went looking for a job in the next few days no one recognized her face or her name as the girl who had been in the headlines such a little while before.

When Curt heard Cherry had been job hunting for several days he said at the apartment in Douglaston one evening:

"Why didn't you tell me you wanted to be a business woman, Cherry? I'd have saved you all that shoe leather. I'll give you a card to Mr. Lovell, our personnel manager, tomorrow and tell him to put you on as a receptionist."

Cherry shook her head, smiling at his affectionately:

"That's out! Haven't you done enough for us? After all you gave Pat a chance, and look at the wonderful things you've done for April!"

"You'll earn your salary," Curt scribbled a message on the back of a card and handed it to her. "Mr. Lovell will see to that. And if you don't he'll fire you. He stands for no nonsense."

April sighed:

"Curt, you shouldn't! It's amazing the way you go around waving fairy wands and straightening out things for everybody. I honestly don't know how we ever got along without you."

Curt caressed her with his eyes: "I hope you'll never try getting along without me again, darling."

Cherry smiled knowingly. They weren't fooling her. She felt absolutely certain Curt and April were engaged.

"Pat is doing very well," Curt told Cherry then. "Tufts, the head of the legal department says the boy has a great future ahead of him."

"Oh, I'm glad," Cherry smiled happily. "I think he's got a wonderful mind."

"That isn't all," Curt said seriously. "He's got character. If you let him slip out of your hands and marry someone else, you're a very foolish girl."

"Marry someone else?" Cherry scoffed. "Pat wouldn't marry anyone but me!"

April broke in: "Don't be too sure of that. You can't expect to keep him hanging around living on hope forever. You are young to marry. But I'd much rather see you married and settled down with Pat Hastings than going to business."

"So would I," Curt agreed. "Marriage is the best thing in the world for little girls that are too pretty. It's the best career they can find."

Cherry said seriously: "I know you all worry about me. I know you don't even trust me. But I'll be all right. You'll see. I won't disgrace you again."

Said April quickly: "Oh, darling, you haven't disgraced us! Don't be so melodramatic. Of course I trust you. If I hadn't known you were just getting a wild oat out of your system, I'd have sent you right home to mother when you arrived from Virginia."

Cherry scoffed, smiling: "You and who else! I wouldn't have gone!"

Cherry went to work as a receptionist at the Sherlock Steel company the next day. She was demure as a daisy in a navy blue tailored dress with white collar and cuffs when Curt De Witt passed her desk just before five o'clock.

"How do you do, Miss Lind," his brown eyes twinkled at her. "How's business?" The formality was for Miss Brown who sat nearby breaking in the new receptionist.

Cherry's pansy eyes worshipped him as she smiled:

"Just fine thank you. Mr. De Witt." Then under her breath, "I'm so happy I could die. Oh, I love it!"

Miss Brown said surprised when Curt had gone out:

"Oh, do you know Mr. De Witt?"

"He's an old friend of my sister's." Cherry busied herself with a paper and pencil making notes and trying to look very much occupied.

Miss Brown was quite deferentially considerate from that moment on. It could easily be seen that the president of Sherlock Steel was worshiped by his employes.

"He's the salt of the earth," Cora Brown enthused. "This is one plant where there'll never be a strike. Anything the boss says goes. Mr. De Witt worked himself up the hard way, and he never lets any of his people down. No matter who they are."

Cherry was aching to tell Miss Brown that she was pretty sure Mr. De Witt was going to be her brother-in-law; that he was madly in love with her sister. But she restrained herself with difficulty. Cherry could hold her tongue, which was one of her good qualities. It would be a help to her in the business world.

It was the next Sunday when Curt was having dinner with the family in Douglastown that April announced their engagement to the inner circle, Cherry, Gay, and Pat.

"We're going to be married," April smiled shyly as she took Curt's hand and held it to her cheek. "I suppose you might have suspected."

"Oh, darling," Cherry cried jumping up to kiss both her sister and Curt. "I'm so happy!"

Gay had known, but she pretended surprise. Pat pumped Curt's hand grinning broadly:

"Well, bless my soul! Isn't this a great day in the mornin'? Well, we're sure mighty glad to welcome you into the family, Mr. De Witt. I'm not exactly a member of the family yet. But I will be some day when Cherry gets so old she's afraid no one else will marry her."

Kenny was in the kitchen with Hyacinthe. April said uncertainly:

"We won't say anything to Kenny yet. Not until our plans are made. We won't say anything to anyone as a matter of fact. Let's keep it a family secret for a little while."

"You're going to be married right away, aren't you?" Cherry wanted to know. "It isn't going to be one of those long engagements, I hope."

Curt grinned: "Thanks Cherry for rooting in my corner. I've been trying to get April to elope. If it happens very suddenly some of these times you'll know I've hit her over the head and carried her off to a parson."

Cherry laughed: "That's the best way to keep her from getting cold feet. I'm for it. Be a cave man."

Pat asked: "What are you going to do about your radio career, April? Are you going to give it up?"

"She doesn't have to unless she wants to." Curt said. "If it makes her any happier to sing, that's her affair entirely."

"What do you think you'll do, darling?" Gay asked. "Have you made up your mind?"

April mused: "I don't exactly believe in working wives anymore. I think I might like to be a clinging vine for a change. But would I really like it, do you suppose?"

Curt grinned, giving her a quick kiss on the brow: "We'll go on a long honeymoon wherever you want to go, sweetheart, and you can make up your own little mind whether you enjoy belonging to the idle rich. If you don't, I don't care if you take in washings."

It was late that night when Gay went into April's room and found her curled up in bed sobbing.

"Why, darling," she sat down beside her, alarmed. "What's the matter with you?"

April sat up, wiping her eyes and making an effort to pull herself together. She said miserably:

"I—it's Curt, Gay. I feel so sorry for him."

"But why?" Gay asked, puzzled: "Why should you feel sorry for Curt?"

"He loves me so much. He's so good. And I have nothing to give him but gratitude. It—isn't right. He—deserves so much more."

Gay smiled. "Oh, darling, you'll feel differently after you're married. It's just that you're still afraid of love and romance. Why when you get it all over with you won't feel this way. It's your nerves. You've been through so much."

April sank back among her pillows wearily:

"I hope so," she sighed heavily. I do hope you're right. But sometimes I think I just can't go through with it, Gay. And now I've gone so far I can't back out."

Gay looked at her closely:

"You aren't in love with Hill anymore, are you?"

April looked away: "I suppose I'll always love him in a way. He's the father of my child. But what difference does that make? He doesn't care anything about us. Hasn't he proven that by his indifference."

"I should think he has," Gay sniffed.

"I suppose," April sighed a little later, "things will work themselves out. They always seem to."

The next evening tragedy struck April a merciless blow that was to change all their lives.

OPEN CLASSES AT ST. PETER'S NEXT TUESDAY

Expect Pupils Now Enrolling To Reach Last Year's Attendance of 840.

St. Peter's grade and high schools will open Tuesday with a registration expected to equal that of last year, when 840 pupils were enrolled, Sister Laura, principal, announced today.

Registration is being held daily this week at the school office from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. for pupils entering St. Peter's school for the first time.

Five new teachers will join the faculty this year replacing teachers who have been assigned to schools in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Three teachers come from Joliet, Ill., Sister Irene, grade subjects; Sister Theoclete, music, and Sister Clarice, English and library supervisor. Sister Protase, another grade teacher, comes from Johnstown, Pa., and Sister Johanna, a high school teacher, from Chicago.

All teachers are expected to reach here by Friday. Former instructors include Sister Borromeo, Sister Ida, senior home rooms; Sister Donata and Sister Noreen, junior home rooms; Sister Rita Marie and Sister David, sophomore home rooms; Sister Janice, freshman home rooms: Sister Raphael, music; Sister Edward Marie, typing.

Transfers have taken Sister Medard, second grade teacher to St. Boniface school in Chicago; Sister Bernadone, eighth grade instructor, to the College of St. Francis in Joliet, where she will study; Sister Lawrence to Bayfield, Wis., Sister Laurene to South Chicago, and Sister Cassilda to Englewood school in Chicago.

Pupils will attend a special mass Tuesday at 8 a. m., and afterwards participate in promotion exercises. They will be dismissed at noon for a half-holiday.

A pet dog of Capt. C. V. Nissen, Toledo, O., comes to him when he rings the doorbell.

SETS UP PLAN FOR 'PRIVATE' COURT FOR TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

Traffic violators in Mansfield may soon find court hearings more private but not necessarily more lenient.

Frend C. Boals, traffic commissioner, announced today that he was working out plans for a separate traffic session of Municipal court to be held Wednesdays at 1:30 p. m.

Boals said that several motorists object to appearing in court with persons accused of more serious crimes and forfeit their bonds. This causes them to feel that they are being unfairly treated and over-penalized for traffic violations, he said.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch has agreed to give his services for the afternoon sessions each Wednesday. The arrangement would make it easier for policemen as well as motorists. At present, policemen serving on the night shift, must appear to testify against offenders in the morning. Under the new schedule, all cases would be heard in the one afternoon session.

Juvenile traffic violators would be heard Tuesday afternoons before Probate Judge S. H. Cramer, according to Boals' plan.

FENN ARRANGES SPECIAL CLASS

College graduates lacking enough hours in mathmatics and trigonometry to apply for commissions as midshipmen in the U. S. navy can make up their deficiencies this fall at Fenn college in Cleveland, W. G. Cox, naval recruiting officer in Mansfield announced today.

Cox said two one-semester courses, one of them in trigonometry, are needed to make application as midshipmen and that many college graduates did not have this much credit.

The courses take four months to complete and will start Sept. 15, Cox asserted.

The Missouri highway commission has allotted $2,500,000 to build farm-to-market roads in 1941.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—"You will perhaps have noticed," said Winston Churchill in his radio report on the Atlantic charter, "that the president of the United States and the British representatives. . . . have jointly pledged their countries to the final destruction of Nazi tyranny."

Johnson

Maybe they did, but the Atlantic charter didn't do it in so many words. It expressed high minded hopes and principles to be applied to the world "when" the Nazi tyranny is destroyed — which is a very different matter. There is the further question discussed here earlier, whether a president of the United States, acting alone, can pledge this country to engage in land war in Europe. The only outspoken pledges we have heard about that are those of the president that we will not send land armies to Europe.

In this connection it should not be forgotten that leading British military men, including the prime minister himself, have expressed an opinion that Hitler cannot be conquered on European soil without a new American Expeditionary Force. Every principal American authority agrees with that.

There are some qualifications to those opinions. They do not mean that Hitler cannot be blocked by sea and air and so frustrated that the areas of his threats are considerably reduced.

Neither do they mean that he, and with him the Nazi party, could not be overthrown by internal stresses and explosions, not alone in Germany, but in the conquered countries, or at least that the Nazis could be so softened up by such events that land operations from the west would become possible.

That is a condition impossible to predict. Such operations are not possible now. The worst mistake we could make is too much wishful thinking with a possible effect of ever "pledging" our country to objectives too remote from our own proper interests and too far in the fog of the future to predict.

Another curious passage in this Churchill speech is his warning to Japan that, if she does not come to an accord with us on a settlement of Far Eastern questions, "We (the British) shall, of course, range ourselves unhesitatingly on the side of the United States."

For these kind assurances much thanks, but when did the growing threat of this Far Eastern shindy become so clearly our war that an offer of British assistance can be made as an act of grace and loyalty to a friend at bay rather than one of mutual, and I may say imperial, interest? Our stake in the Far East is to that of Great Britain as a molehill to a mountain.

We got so deeply involved, as many believe, more to protect her interest than our own. Now it seems a little presumptuous for Britain to assure Uncle Sam that, if he really gets his whiskers in this wringer, John Bull will be on his side.

With what? Not much more than the use of Singapore as a naval base for our fleet to protect British possessions.

It is probably wrong to criticize a great British oration in this war of words and nerves. But it is not wrong to hope that we can approach this problem with clear eyes, unsealed to our own interests, and to remember the outstanding lesson of all history:

"There is no altruism among nations, especially those at war."

They always do and they always should protect first, last and all the time, the lives and homes of their own people. All honor to Churchill for doing that well—but who is doing it for us?

ORDNANCE GROUP BRANDS STRIKES 'DEFENSE BLOT'

Hits Lack of Single Direction For Production of U. S. Armaments.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The army ordnance association, a semi-official body, today condemned strikes for a "disgraceful blot" on the record of defense progress and listed as a companion debit the lack of a single administrative head for armaments production.

The association asserted flatly that defense strikes "should be outlawed once and for all in order that the vast majority of willing hands may do their share in defense production."

The ordnance organization also found reason to deplore the delay in fixing "a ceiling on all prices" —a delay which it said "has added millions to the cost of national defense and points the way to monetary inflation which may defeat the very purpose of the defense effort."

The opinions of the association were set forth in an editorial analysis of the accomplishments and defects of the defense effort which appears in the current issue of the organization's journal, Army Ordnance.

If the association found much to criticize in the defense effort, it also found much to praise, asserting that the "end of M-year (mobilization year) discloses military armament production gaining momentum."

"Soon they will be in high gear," the editorial reported. "After that, God help the transgressor of the American way!"

The association, which is composed of army ordnance officers and civilian ordnance engineers, noted the following on the credit side of the picture:

"Our military armament leadership reveals vision and experience. The Herculean effort is in the hands of trained officers who know the job from A to Z . . . OPM gives inspiring support.

"Industrial cooperation—on the part of management and labor—has been of a piece with its opposite military file. In the main, the team works well. Small profits—in some cases as low as one twenty-fifth of one per cent—are the rule."

About 18 blind residents of Mansfield and Richland county are vacationing this week at Greter's lake, west of the city, as guests of the Lamplighters' club and the Salvation Army. Most of the blind guests have been attending the school for the blind at the Salvation Army headquarters. Games and swimming will be provided for the vacationers at the lake.

Most dogs have only one owner but "Trig," the German Shepherd that guards a Mansfield taxi company has about 12. Today drivers for the company, were "chipping in" to buy "Trig" a license. The two-year-old pet strayed to the taxi office more than a year ago and has been there ever since. He goes home with a different driver every day but returns to the office at night. He likes to ride on the running board, and makes a trip to Crestline and back several times a week with one of the drivers.

An air conditioning unit on a Washington state automobile interested pedestrians on Walnut street this morning. The unit consisted of a metal cylinder on the side of the car housing a funnel. Air pouring into the funnel is cooled and then pours into the interior of the car. Occupants of the auto drive with all windows rolled up to keep the warm air out.

Latest in Mansfield to be hit by the defense program is the city supply of garbage cans. The supply is practically exhausted and no more can be obtained from the Dover, O., factory that manufactured the cans, according to L. L. Linham, garbage superintendent. Five hundred cans were obtained the first of the year on the belief that they would be adequate for a year's supply. Only 24 of this number are left and they are being held as relacements for present patrons.

FOURTH CHILD BADLY HURT IN KNIFINGS

Police Find Father Standing at Window of New York Tragedy Apartment.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — Three children and their mother were found slain with their throats cut today. A fourth child was wounded seriously.

The tragedy was discovered in the home of William Morey, a ground floor apartment. Morey was slightly wounded—lacerations of the forehead and of the index finger. Under police guard, he was taken to a hospital for treatment.

The victims were his wife, Mary, 34, and their children, Marcella, 7; Claire, 4; Paul 3. William Morey, jr., was taken to a hospital with head injuries in addition to his cut throat.

Morey was dismissed from the police force five years ago for drunkenness.

Neighbors had heard screams from the Morey apartment at 6:50 a. m. They found William, Jr., wandering, naked, through the apartment. His condition was such he couldn't be questioned. The father was standing at a window. Mrs. Morey was dead in another bed, and the dead children were on the floor nearby.

The bodies of the children were unclothed. Mrs. Morey wore only a housecoat.

A small kitchen knife with a sharp blade was on the kitchen table. It was blood-stained, apparently the slayer's tool.

That the family had been living in abject poverty was apparent. The apartment was poorly furnished and there were no rugs on the floors. Police were unable to say at once if Morey was employed.

Policeman Alvin Dunne, the first to arrive, found Morey standing at a window looking out into the street.

"Help me stop the blood on Junior," he said when the policeman entered.

"Who did it?" asked Dunne.

"My wife did it," Morey replied. "I was lying down. I was hit on the head. I don't know what it was."

An axe handle was found in the living room; a blood-stained axehead was nearby.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Miss Midnight's Notebook.

THE columns are always telling you about "scenes" that occurred here and there—how one movie queen said a snappy thus-and-so to another movie queen, and how the society belle gave a fishy-eyed snub to that society belle on Newport's beach, and how a cafe playboy tangled with one of his fellow Scotch-and soda athletes in a velvet drinking parlor.

Kilgallen

But sometimes there is a more poignant yarn behind the complete absence of a scene. Behind two people passing in the street and not seeing each other, for instance.

* * *

You can take as an example the little tableau on Fifth Avenue near Rockefeller Plaza in the bright sunshine of the summer afternoon a few days ago. A white-skinned brunet was strolling idly past the shop windows with a male companion, when from the portals of one of the big stores on the avenue a flashy blond appeared, arm in arm with Gilda Gray, the shimmy queen . . . The blond wore sheer black, a black hat with a fluffy veil, and sheer black stockings.

Nothing at all happened.

The blond did not notice the brunet. The brunet did not see the blond going past her. More surprising still, no one in the summer afternoon crowd seemed to notice either the blond or the brunet. Yet once upon a time they would have.

Once these ladies were sisters-in-law, but they did not speak even then, and their rivalry flared high and ignited on the front pages time and time again.

The brunet was then the wife of the late Prince Serge Mdivani. The blond was then married to Prince David Mdivani. When the blond and brunet were both princesses, they were among the biggest box office draws on the screen.

The blond being pouting Mae Murray, who just finished a stormy engagement in Billy Rose's old-timers show at the Diamond Horseshoe; the brunet —tempestuous Pola Negri, who could count herself very lucky if she got the part of a character woman in the film version of "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

A collector of ironies would flourish on Broadway. You take Danny Kaye for instance. There he was, season after season, playing the mountain resorts for practically nothing more than room and borscht, but full of talent and blessed with fine material—and all of a sudden he is in the big time, using the same material but getting $2,000 or $3,000 a week for it. And he is working so hard at $2,000 or $3,000 a week that he has to escape from town for a rest. And where does he escape it? To the mountains?

It's the same with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. They were ringside in the Hurricane the other night, in a very joyful frame of mind, and why not? Suddenly they have become big box office. They have just closed a contract to make a single appearance at the Sacramento, Cal., Fair for $3,250 for a few minutes work; and only recently they earned $10,000 for a nine-day engagement at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City.

And here they were at the Hurricane being rushed for autographs.

It was almost enough to make them forget that four years ago when the Hurricane site was occupied by the famous Paradise restaurant—they pulled every string possible to get into the show at a salary of $150 a week!

BOARD APPROVES

Commissioners O. K. 12-Acre Annexation To Shelby.

County commissioners had cleared the way today for the annexation of nearly 13 acres of residential area to the city of Shelby.

Commissioners authorized the proposed annexation following a hearing which failed to bring any protests. The Shelby city council had aproved the expansion of the city limits, but a state law requires the approval of the commissioners before it becomes final.

The new area is Jackson township just east of the city proper, it was said. A few new homes have been built in the section. Annexation to the city will provide the owners with city services, including water, lights and gas and fire protection.

EX-OHIOAN HELD AS NAZI HELPER

'Pocketbook Maker' Charged With Supplying Data on U. S. Army.

(By United Press)

SPOKANE, Wash. — Kurt Frederick Lurwig, 38, an Ohio-born "pocketbook maker," was held today on a charge of mailing information about the numbers, disposition and equipment of the United States army to Germany.

He was indicted by a federal grand jury in New York and arrested last Saturday by department of justice agents as he was leaving a westbound bus in Cle Elum, Wash. He was held incommunicado until yesterday, when he was brought to Spokane for arraignment.

Ludwig pleaded not guilty and U. S. Commissioner Maurice Smith fixed bond at $50,000 and set Sept. 11 as a tentative date for a preliminary hearing. He will be returned to New York for trial.

U. S. Attorney Mathias F. Correa said in New York that Ludwig was attempting to escape when he was arrested.

He said Ludwig was born in Ohio of parents "of German extraction" and was educated and reared in Germany. He returned to Germany for extended visits, particularly during Adolf Hitler's rise, Correa said.

Ludwig told FBI agents he returned from his last visit to Germany in 1940 and hadn't worked since. He said he was a "pocketbook maker."

EXPECT 60,000 TO JAM STATE FAIRGROUND FOR FIFTH SESSION

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS —(U P)— Officials predicted that 60,000 persons would jam the fairground today for the fifth day of the ninety-first Ohio State fair.

Guest of honor at day-long festivities was State Agricultural Director John T. Brown, who presented a trophy to the winner of the director of agriculture stake at the harness races.

State fair manager Win Kinman said paid attendance at the current $25,000,000 show was 32,748 more than it was during the first four days in 1940. The 1941 four-day total was 151,163, compared with 119,415 for the corresponding period last year.

"Days" to be celebrated, besides that of the director, were Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce day, Women's Federated club day, Garden club day and Farm Bureau day.

Director Brown will attend a luncheon before the harness races.

"I have to stick close to my office most of the time, so today I'm just going out and take a good look at things," he said. "I want to talk to farm people. I want to hear their ideas and learn some things that will help me do my job more intelligently."

Judging activities in the livestock arenas will include percheron horses, shorthorns, guernseys and commercial cattle; Poland China and Hampshire hogs, and Merino, Oxford downs, Hampshire downs and Corriedale sheep.

Gov. John W. Bricker was the number one attraction at the fair yesterday. With a brand new spade, he broke the first ground for the $350,000 junior fair building. He predicted that it would be completed before the 1942 fair.

Traffic Tied Up In New York By Electrical Storm

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— A furious electrical and rain storm last night tied up subway trains, flooded cellars, disrupted street traffic and caused at least two deaths in the metropolitan area.

The storm extended over the lower Hudson valley, eastern New York state and part of Connecticut, according to the weather bureau, but centered over New York city, where vivid bolts of lightning flashed among the skyscrapers and 2.13 inches of rain fell.

Subway service in parts of Brooklyn and Queens boroughs was tied up from 7:30 until after 10 p. m. At one place water was two and a half feet deep in the subway.

Lightning struck a semi-exposed gas main in a subway construction project in Brooklyn, causing an explosion and fire that burned for hours, shooting flames 100 feet in the air.

The fire department received more than 250 calls for emergency pumping work.

Braves Break Even In Double-Header With Fremont

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Mansfield bowlers won't be able to recognize their old home when the new Colony alleys have their grand opening Friday night at 8 o'clock.

You can't toss approximately $20,000 into the remodeling and refurnishing of a plant like the West Third street alleys, without having something to show for it, and the new, modern layout for the destruction of ten-pins has become a real showplace in the Mansfield sports world.

The remodeling plan started by Mike Meder, before he sold the alleys recently to Cleveland interests, has been carried on by the new management, and the work is being rushed to completion for the Friday night opening.

Better bowling should result this fall and winter from the color scheme used in redecorating the alleys, and from the new lighting system installed

Walls and ceilings are painted in light, eye-pleasing colors, while 24 fluorescent lighting units have been installed on each floor, with the lights from the foul lines on turned away from the bowlers so that there's no glare in the kegler's eyes.

* * *

Eyes will bulge and chins will drop
When bowlers see this kegling spot.

Heavy theater drapes over the pits, designed to deaden the sound of falling pins, form a pleasing background for the light colors of the walls and ceilings.

Hydraulic ball returns have been installed throughout the plant, the alleys have been placed in first class condition to conform with A. B. C. standards, and new pins have been purchased for the opening of the season.

It would take more than this one column to outline all the new things included in the remodeling, new locker rooms, new rest rooms, new check rooms, new lounge, new everything

* * *

So let's get on to the opening ceremonies Mayor Locke will make a short speech and present a token of esteem to Mansfield's oldest league bowler Attorney John F Kramer

Then Walter Ward nationally known bowler now traveling for the Brunswick company will meet Sonny Meder in an exhibition match and the season will be officially opened

Ward so they tell me puts on a great show

* * *

Sonny and Babe Meder will be employed for a time by the new management, and Mike Meder will also be around for a while to help the new enterprise get started toward a successful season Bowling just wouldn't be bowling without the Meders around to help open the season

Byers Edges Fisher 3 to 2 In First Game

Mansfield Winning Streak Ends At 7 Games in Nightcap Fray

THE MANSFIELD BRAVES are still three games behind the Ohio State league-leading Fremont Green Sox today after splitting a doubleheader with the Hose at Fremont last night, taking the opener 3 to 2 and dropping the nightcap 3 to 4.

The defeat in the second game halted the Braves' winning streak at seven straight victories, but the Mansfield club gained a full game on Fremont in the crucial three-game series just ended by taking the first two tilts from the first-half champions.

Both aces of the Fremont hurling staff fell before the rampaging Braves who edged Jim Stasaitis here Monday night, and then defeated Lefty Lloyd Fisher in last night's opener

Stasaitis and Fisher have each lost three games now in the entire season's campaign, and the Braves are responsible for five of the defeats in the six-game total, having trimmed Stasaitis three times and Fisher twice.

* * *

Failure of other Ohio State league clubs to take the measure of these two hurlers is responsible for Fremont's continued long stay at the top of the Ohio State league standings

Chuck Byers, who has earned a reputation as a Fremont jinx had the best of Fisher in last night's opener which was limited to seven innings, and until the final stanza Chuck had a shutout victory in his grasp

Bobby Ankrum drove home Bill Reinka for the first run in the second inning, Eddie Mutryn clouted a circuit drive in the fourth for the second run, and Bill Salem drove in Harry Siegbert with what proved the winning marker in the fifth.

* * *

Byers' shutout was spoiled in the seventh when Spry singled, Hornyak, batting for Emrich, also singled, and Hank Miesle drove them both home with a triple. Fremont got three of its four hits in this frame.

* * *

Chuck gave three walks and fanned nine, while Fisher, recently sold to Brooklyn, issued one pass and whiffed three

Hornyak edged Jim Coleman in a hurling duel in the nightcap, chiefly because the Braves lost their punch in the clutch, having 11 runners stranded on the paths.

Mansfield got away to a three-run lead in the first two stanzas, but the Sox came back with two in the last of the second, and pushed over the tying and winning runs in the fifth

Coleman gave only two bases on balls and fanned three, while Hornyak franked nine batters to first, and also whiffed three.

* * *

Tonight the Braves resume their struggle for the second-half championship meeting the third-place Fostoria Red Birds at the Fairground Either Freddy Wolpert or Pat Patterson will do the hurling for the Tribe.

Amateurs In Match Play

Alexander Takes Medal In National Tourney.

OMAHA —(AP)— If these high-scoring national amateur golf championship seekers will take a tip from Omaha's own Johnny Goodman they'll start shooting for pars instead of birdies

That was Johnny's advice today as 61 qualifiers for match play in the 15th amateur, none too successful in their medal-play battles with the field clubs' stubborn par-72 turned to personal engagements, with two 18-hole rounds on the "black Wednesday" program

Goodman who wants to regain the title he won in 1937 credited unusually high qualifying scores to the fact the strangers to the field clubs deceptive contours and distances were playing too boldly

They're shooting for the pins all the time rather than playing safe simply to hit the green And that's dangerous because of the speed of our greens and the trouble you can get into if you once roll off them he said

The qualifying medal went to the popular Stewart (Skip) Alexander, the 23-year-old former Duke university collegian who added a stupendous 77 to his first round 67. Skip's 144, exactly even par and set up early, held through the day.

* * *

Johnny Burke the former intercollegiate champion had the best chance to overtake Alexander but after a first nine 36 he finished with a 41, his 77 leaving him a stroke behind Skip at 145

Akron Pro Leads Tourney

Keiser Paces Field In Ohio PGA.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — If anybody with years of Ohio golf tournament experience behind him is planning to win the state P G A open meet his main job is to beat a Johnny-come-lately by the name of Herman Keiser.

* * *

There are 36 holes left and this 26-year-old Akron pro, who has been in the state only two years, is already four strokes ahead of the field and seven strokes ahead of the 144 par for the first 36.

Keiser won the Iowa state tournament in 1939. His drives go out like 30-30's and his putts come in like homing pigeons Witness his 69-68—137 yesterday

Those who have watched him on the winter circuits say he's got the stuff to keep up today against such old campaigners as Maurice McCarthy, jr., of Cincinnati, former state amateur champion, who shot 72-69—141, Byron Nelson of Toledo ex national open titlist, 69-72—141, Clay Gaddie of Terrace Park 71-71—142 Rod Munday of Toledo, 72-72—144 and Johnny Malutic of Cleveland, 71-73—144

The gallery suddenly became aware of Keiser at the end of the morning round when he reported a three-under-par 69, tying the pace set by Nelson. He really got going on the way out in the afternoon with four pars in a row and four birdies on the next five for his 32.

* * *

Others still in the running, nominally speaking, include Jack Thompson of Youngstown, 72-73—145, Harry Boyer, host pro at Losantville, 73-74—147 Frank Gelhot of Cincinnati, 75-72—147 Al Agcroft of Youngstown, 74-73—147; Len Wagner of Cincinnati, 73-75—148, Jerry Burns of Hamilton 76-72—148 Gene Marchi of Dayton and Frank Metzger of Akron, each with 72-77—149; and Clayde Mumma of Dayton, 75-74—149

Red Birds Bow To Millers

Split Double-Header as Grodzicki Hurls.

(By Associated Press)

Johnny Grodzicki ace American Association pitcher, tried to win two games last night for the Columbus Red Birds but came to a disastrous windup in the second contest after chalking up his 17th victory in the opener

He allowed only three hits in the nine-inning first game as the Minneapolis Millers bowed, 8 to 0. Then came the nightcap.

Minneapolis tied the score at 3-3 After Columbus went scoreless in the first of the fifth, Grodzicki entered the scene with a chance to win his second game of the night He made Otto Denning fly out Frank Danneker then hit one fair for a home run, scoring three runs and giving the Millers a 6 to 3 victory.

That was the end of the game, because the Red Birds had to catch a train for Louisville

Toledo failed to gain ground on fourth-place Kansas City as it split a double-header with St Paul The Saints took the seven-inning opener, 4 to 0, and the Mud Hens won the nightcap 4 to 2

Louisville lost to Milwaukee, 9 to 3, and Kansas City defeated its parent New York Yankee club in an afternoon exhibition and won 2 to 1.

BUDDY KNOX STOPPED BY TURKEY THOMPSON

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Turkey Thompson young Los Angeles Negro heavyweight knocked out Buddy Knox of Dayton O in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout last night

Thompson had little trouble in dispatching Knox in 2:58 of the opening round He came out at the bell with a series of rights and lefts to Knox's head to floor him When Knox arose at the count of six he was met by a right smash to the head and went down for the full count

Early Lead Takes Crown

Lesnevich Beats Tami In Close Battle.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gus Lesnevich, the fellow who was always the bridesmaid and never the bride in the light-heavyweight picture, was boss of the 175-pounders today, but he's going to have to prove it again to make it stick.

* * *

The rugged Russian from Jersey gained undisputed possession of the championship last night in Madison Square Garden by outpointing Tami Mauriello, the young baby-faced flailer from the Bronx.

But he did it by a margin as close as a fresh shave, and there was such a question left in the minds of the fans after it was over that Promoter Mike Jacobs announced immediately Gus would have to defend the bauble Nov. 14 in the garden against Tami.

By flooring the 21-year-old kid in the second round, cutting his eye in the fourth, bloodying his nose in the sixth and generally running away with the match through the first 10 rounds, Lesnevich piled up so tremendous a margin that he had enough to hold off against Mauriello's closing drive.

120 Entries Expected for Ohio Seniors Golf Tourney

Mansfield's outstanding golf event of the year is scheduled for tomorrow and Friday when the Ohio Seniors Golf Association holds its 13th annual tournament at Westbrook Country club.

* * *

Ed Baxter of Mansfield, secretary-treasurer of the organization, announced today that approximately 120 veteran niblick swingers are expected in the entry lists.

* * *

The tourney, as usual, will be conducted in five age divisions, starting with players over 50 years of age, and topped by those 75 and over.

Defending Champion Frank Pelton of Cleveland will be seeking his fourth state title in the tournament, having won the championship in 1937, 1938 and 1940.

Play will start Thursday morning at 9 o'clock with 18 holes carded for Thursday and 18 more on Friday.

* * *

Thursday evening at 6:30 the association will hold its annual banquet at the Mansfield Leland hotel where the association will have its headquarters during the tournament. The hotel also will serve lunch at the Westbrook club.

* * *

At their meeting here this spring, the board of governors of the association voted $500 additional toward furnishing of a room in the new Westbrook clubhouse.

Dr William D. Inglis of Columbus is president of the association, and G. W. Ritter of Toledo is vice president.

In the 13 years since the organization of the Ohio Seniors association, their tournament has developed into a distinctly Mansfield institution. Their tourney has been held at Westbrook every year with the exception of the third year when it was moved to Dayton.

Tribe's Bobbles Cost Tilt

Fourth Place Indians Open Series With Athletics.

CLEVELAND — Back in fourth place after a brief week-end flurry, the hapless Indians hoped for better luck against Philadelphia today.

The Athletics named Johnny Babich to pitch the opener of a two-game series and the Redskins countered with Rookie Steve Gromek.

Tribal fielding lapses, including three errors by Roy Weatherly, and failure to hit in the pinches enabled Boston to beat Cleveland yesterday, 9 to 4, and advance into third place.

* * *

Dick Newsome, the Red Sox 31-year-old rookie, allowed the Tribe only eight hits and himself drove in three runs with a double.

Jeff Heath's 17th home run of the season accounted for three Cleveland tallies in the first inning and the Indians picked up their last run in the sixth on Heath's single, a double by Oscar Grimes and a fly.

* * *

Jim Bagby was touched for 10 hits in eight innings, finally being rounted by Boston's four-run rally in the last stanza. Clint Brown stopped the outbreak after the damage was done.

* * *

Brooklyn looked like a whirlwind against the St. Louis Cardinals in winning yesterday's opener, 8-3, and then subsided into a zephyr before the magnificent pitching of Mort Cooper in losing the eight-inning nightcap, 3-1.

However, the Dodgers came out with their 1½ game lead intact and seemed to have an edge in the remaining schedule.

* * *

After meeting the sizzling Cincinnati Reds tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn will have 30 contests left to play. Ten of them, including three at St. Louis, are against the western clubs, and all the others are against the second-division eastern group.

* * *

The Cardinals without Terry Moore and Enos Slaughter in the outfield did not look like the same club and except for Cooper's great pitching and a fielding breakdown by Peewee Reese of the Dodgers in yesterday's nightcap, St. Louis would have been routed.

In the first tilt Curt Davis pitched an effective seven-hitter and smacked his second circuit blow of the season.

Cooper pitched a seven-hitter in the nightcap and would have had a shutout except for another home run by Camilli in the eighth inning. Cooper was matched for six scoreless innings by 40-year-old Fred Fitzsimmons, but in the seventh Reese made two consecutive errors at shortstop and Johnny Hopp, who had been held hitless all day, doubled to score both runners.

The doubleheader drew a crowd of 39,107, five thousand more than the park could seat.

Because of Monday's rain, all the National league contests were doubleheaders. The world champion Reds split with the New York Giants, Pittsburgh divided at Boston, and the Chicago Cubs captured two from the Phillies.

The Giants beat Bucky Walters, 7-4, then had the Reds retaliate with a 5-4 decision on six-hit hurling by Junior Thompson.

Jim Tobin, using his newly-developed knuckleball, pitched a four-hit game to stop the Pirates, 4-3, and Max Butcher came back with a six-hitter to win the nightcap, 6-1.

The Cubs collected three home runs for a 5-4 victory, then romped to an 11-3 triumph in the afterpiece.

Dutch Leonard was touched for 10 hits, but managed to evade trouble as the Washington Senators shut out the St. Louis Browns 3 to 0.

The Philadelphia Athletics swept a double bill from the Detroit Tigers, 9-1 and 2-1.

BOB WASN'T MODEST

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Sports writers thought maybe Bob Feller was just being modest a short while ago when he said he doubted if a modern pitcher could win more than 28 games a year. The way Bob was going, the experts figured he was sure for 30 or more. But Feller bumped into trouble in late July and August and may have to stretch himself to get those 28 he promised.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—They really were hanging 'em from the rafters at Ebbets field yesterday . . . lots of the standees found they could see better by climbing up onto the beams, and if the Dodgers had been anywhere near winning that second game it probably would have hailed fans when the storm came up . . . The press box was so jammed that the Dodgers' secretary, John McDonald, tried to make room for another working man by asking President Ford Frick of the National league to sit in Larry MacPhail's box. Frick said he didn't want to take a chance on getting into an argument and stayed where he was . . . Luckiest guy in the park was Bob Brumphy of PM, who lost his ticket to the Gernevich-Mauriello fight while he was shoving his way through the mob and had it returned by Dick McCann of the News, who picked it up three blocks away.

DECEPTION

Minnesota's George Franck, who has been giving the home-town papers the news about the Chicago All-stars, tells this one on Norm Standlee, the Stanford fullback: Standlee is color blind and when the coaches make a lot of changes during practice, he sometimes blocks a player on his own side. One of the opposing tackles caught on and hollered, "Hey, Norm, don't block me, I'm on your side." Norm didn't and the tackle smeared the play. Now Standlee says he's going to block everyone in sight.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—One major leaguer who seems pretty certain to win a battle for more salary next season is Cecil Travis, Washington infielder. Held Over.

Held over through Friday because of its popular appeal, "Life Begins With Andy Hardy," Mickey Rooney's latest starring vehicle, continues to amuse audiences at the Ohio theater. Life socks the self-sufficient hero from Carvel when he attempts to take New York by the tail and he emerges a somewhat subdued young man. Judy Garland, guest star for the third time in a Hardy Family picture, plays the girl who is always around to help Andy over the bumps. Patricia Dane, Ann Rutherford, Ray McDonald and Lewis Stone are others in the cast.

The Low Down on Borrowing

Butter is up. Steak is dear. Coal is getting scarce, we hear. But money is plentiful and there's no increase in its cost either. In fact, you can get a loan of $100 today and repay it in regular monthly payments for one year at an average daily cost of less than 4 cents.

So here's a timely tip . . . Arrange a convenient budget loan now. Take the money, square up bills and debts and have just one place to pay. Then, fill up the coal bin, stock up the larder and replenish your wardrobe. Get the benefit of cash buying now and repay your loan later, a little at a time. A really good idea!

FUN AND PROFIT TOO

Our loan No. 118436 is a "traveling restaurateur" who paid the balance due on his car, bought material to build a traveling lunch stand and was off to the fairs selling hamburgers and soft drinks, all with the help of a small loan. He says, "We had a lot of fun out of it as well as a handsome profit. Thanks to The City Loan."

PRICES MOVE UP BUT LACK SPEED ON MART TODAY

Rails, Coppers and Steels Display Good Tone at Start of Trading.

NEW YORK—Price changes in today's stock market were generally on the upside but the movement lacked speed and some leaders were a bit backward.

Rails, coppers and steels displayed a good tone at the start coming into the orbit of advance later were some aircrafts, rubber and specialties. In other departments trends were slightly mixed.

Speculative opinion was buoyed a little by the list's rallying inclinations this week but Wall Street commentators again stressed technical factors as the probable basis for the upturn rather than outside news.

Analysts studied the American Petroleum Institute's statistics for clues as the effect of lease-lend requirements on gasoline supplies. Finished and unfinished stocks of the motor fuel totaled 82,566,000 barrels on Aug. 23 against a revised total of 83,777,000 at the end of the previous week and 85,258,000 a year ago.

AGREE ON O-B ELECTION HERE

Company Representatives and Union Officials In Accord But Move Hits Snag.

uets company officials today signed a contract with the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers, CIO, calling for a union shop, check-off and wage increases, Niebur said

The UE recently won a bargaining rights election at the plant which agreed today to the terms of the new contract.

Carl Oberlin, Martin Steel, president, stated that he agreed in principle with the terms of the new management which calls for a five-cent general wage increase with upward adjustments for all employes; and vacations with pay for workers employed at the plant a year or more.

Other terms of the contract include time and a half for overtime and double-time Sundays and holidays, a two and one-half cent bonus for night shift workers; the opportunity to reopen wage negotiations every 60 days, seniority rights protection of seniority for selective service men and a 40 hour week

At Warren, Ohio Public Service CIO workers planned a special meeting tonight to determine calling a strike following the breakdown of negotiations between company and union officials as AFL electrical workers claimed representation at the plant.

Strike action was originally to take place last Wednesday but was forestalled by a last minute appeal by Dr. John R. Steelman, head of the federal department of labor conciliation board, at Washington.

AFL spokesmen offer to back up their claims by consent elections at Warren, Mansfield, Alliance and Lorain properties of the OPS.

D H Creps business agent of the Mansfield Electrical Workers local B-688 AFL could not be reached for a statement today concerning the Washington claims for the local group.

Twelve United Brick and Clay Workers, District No 6, AFL members today were picketing the Mansfield Shale Products company, State Route 545, near Mansfield, a union spokesman said.

The pickets are demanding union recognition at the company, the spokesman said

Company officials would make no statement concerning union activity at the plant.

Call for Strike Vote at Shelby

SHELBY—A strike vote has been called for today by Shelby Lodge No 1527, International Association of Machinists, (AFL) for its members who are employes of Shelby Cycle Company.

Organized recently, the union has disputed the dismissal of several employes from the plant.

The second shift of the plant will vote from 1 to 4 p m, while the first shift will vote from 4 to 7 p m

The union claims a membership of about 90 employes The plant employs about 325 men of which a number are members of the Independent Cycle Workers' Union
